Maj. Gen. Hodge's 24th Corps Severs Thin Waist of South-Central Island By Reaching Tobara

RESISTANCE IS SLIGHT

By ELMONT WAITE
Guam, April 3—(P)—Almost 10 days ahead of schedule, 24th Corps infantrymen were on the eastern shore of Okinawa just above Nakagusuku Bay today. They bisected the strategic island in a swift two-day dash against slight resistance.

Observation planes, meanwhile, operated off of two captured airfields, Katana and Yontan. This indicated that before long land-based combat planes will join the mighty armada of carrier aircraft closely supporting the strangely close invasion of the principal Ryukyu island, only 325 miles south of Japan itself.

Maj. Gen. John R. Hodge's 24th Corps severed the thin waist of south-central Okinawa by reaching the east coast village of Tobara in a two and one-half mile drive yesterday, the second day of the campaign.

The Yanks were on the shores of Katsuren Bay, immediately north of the extensive anchorage at Kakagusuku Bay—once a favorite maneuvering ground of the Japanese fleet.

So far this has been the easiest invasion of the entire Pacific war. Not a single Japanese prisoner of war has been taken.

The Japanese garrison has been estimated in strength at more than 60,000 troops—a sizable fighting force. Approximately 100,000 Americans are involved in the operation by Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar, Bulker Jr.'s newly-activated Tenth Army, which includes army and marine units.

Naval guns, field artillery and Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's great carrier force—he has 1,500 aircraft at his command—gave close support to the ground operations.

Unloading of supplies onto the beaches was proceeding so fast that troops inland complained the material was piling up on them.

The 1,400-ship American armada off Okinawa was attacked by Japanese planes invasion night and five were shot down. No indication was given of fleet damage, if any.

Japan's Domei news agency claimed, meanwhile, that 146 U. S. ships had been sunk or damaged by air and surface units "so far" in the Okinawa campaign.

One surprise of this campaign is the number of Japanese women found in Nipponese army uniforms.

Baruch and Flynn Confer In London

By ALEX SINGLETON
London, April 3—(P)—Two of President Roosevelt's top-ranking advisers were in the same London hotel today, giving rise to speculation whether this presence was keyed to the expectation of Germany's collapse.

They were Presidential Adviser Bernard Baruch and Edward J. Flynn, former Democratic national committee chairman. Presumably they would have the opportunity to discuss Flynn's trip to Yalta, Moscow, the Vatican and Paris, as well as Baruch's week-end conferences with Prime Minister Churchill.

So far as could be ascertained, Flynn was planning to leave London later this week for Washington, but the duration of Baruch's stay remained indefinite. Some speculated he might remain here until the collapse of the Nazis, as the president's on-the-spot representative.

Hard-Hitting American Third Army In Central Germany Advances Almost Thirty Miles Overnight Within Close Junction With Reds

PATTON REPORTED TO BE STORMING INTO SUHL

BULLETINS
Kassel, Germany, April 3—(P)—This Hessian manufacturing city 165 miles from Berlin was falling today to Third Army infantry of the 80th Division, which was fighting forward house-by-house and street-by-street.

Eindhoven, Holland, April 3—(P)—Allied troops have captured Hengelo, 19 miles northeast of Arnhem. The Free Netherlands radio said today, Hengelo is a Dutch city of 40,000 near the German frontier west of captured Rheine.

By JAMES M. LONG

Paris, April 3—(P)—British and Canadian troops advanced to within striking distance of the Zuider Zee and North Sea today in a great effort to trap all Germans in Holland, while Americans fought within nine miles of the Weser river and tightened the Ruhr trap on 110,000 doomed Nazis.

The hard-hitting American Third Army in central Germany advanced almost 30 miles overnight to within 160 miles of a junction with the Russians on the eastern front—a move that would bisect the Reich.

The Third Army whipped across the tough terrain of the Thuringian forest to within 80 miles of the Czechoslovak frontier at points more than 180 miles inside the Reich.

The Germans said Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's army was storming Suhl, 65 miles from Czechoslovakia, and had surrounded Meiningen, 12 miles northeast of Weimar, birthplace of the short-lived German republic. This would mark Third Army advances of near 50 miles since yesterday and place the Americans three-fourths of the way across the waist of Germany.

Seventh army tanks were said by the enemy to have cut the railroad from invested Wuerzburg to Ansbach, 23 miles southwest of Nuremberg (431,000).

A security blackout hid most Third Army movements. A dispatch from Gen. Omar N. Bradley's 12th Army group headquarters gave these distances, but censors did not permit towns to be named. The dispatch said Patton still was 155 miles from Berlin. Parts of his forces presumably still were fighting inside Kassel and Fulda, both entered yesterday.

The Canadians menaced Arnhem, bridged the lower Rhine twice and fought toward the Zuider Zee, less than 25 miles away. When they reach the great water mass, cities such as Amsterdam, Rotterdam and the Hague will be sealed off for liberation.

The British fought to within five miles of Osnabrueck, which was bypassed, and within 60 miles of the North sea, and the cities of Bremen and Hannover. The U. S. Ninth army moved to within 50 miles of Hannover (Pop. 472,527) when its second armored (Hell on Wheels) division reached the Werre river south of Herford at a point nine miles from the Weser.

The Weser and the Elbe river are the only large streams ahead on the high road to Berlin.

Bielefeld was outflanked, bypassed and threatened frontally by the Americans (190 miles from Berlin).

Will Not Ask More Votes In World Parley

Washington, April 3—(P)—President Roosevelt has decided that the United States will not request any additional votes in the world assembly to be proposed at the San Francisco conference.

As the American group met in the state department, Presidential Secretary Jonathan Daniels told reporters in the White House across the street that he had no reason to revise his opinion that the Golden Gate conference will assemble on April 25, as scheduled.

Daniels referred to the state department a question whether President Roosevelt is in communication with Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill regarding the question of representation in the proposed world assembly.

At Yalta, Russia asked an additional vote each for the Ukrainian and White Russian Soviets for a total of three and the United States countered by suggesting an additional two votes for itself.

The Yalta agreement to put the proposition before the United Nations conference failed to specify on what basis the American votes would be asked. Experts here have thus far been unable to figure out any means of making the request formally.

Diplomats speculated that the San Francisco meeting itself may have to decide the issue of Polish representation.

"Only Hate Holds Them Together, Inner Differences of Allies Unsolvable."

Not since the war started has such vindictive material appeared even in the most official Nazi organs. To usually well informed Allied observers it signaled a desperate effort to keep some outward resistance going until the Nazis can form an underground organization with possibly Berchtesgaden as a headquarters.

The emergence of the "werewolves" and other guerrilla bands which the Germans say are operating behind Allied lines were seen as part of this projected movement.

Two Shot In Philadelphia Prison Break

Philadelphia, April 3—(P)—Ten prisoners escaped today from Eastern Penitentiary through a 50-foot tunnel and six were captured several hours later.

Five other convicts were seized by prison guards as they emerged from the tunnel and five more were trapped underground, Warden Herbert Smith said.

Horace Bowers, one of the escapees, was reported in critical condition following an exchange of shots between the fleeing convicts and police. Robert McKnight, another prisoner, also was wounded.

The warden said the men escaped during the breakfast hour. He said the tunnel started in the prisoners' exercise yard and extended under an outer prison wall.

Bowers was serving a life sentence from Luzerne county for the murder of a state policeman and McKnight was sent up from Delaware county for life after a first degree murder conviction.

The convicts crawled out of a tunnel almost directly beneath a wall-top guard tower. Two of them forced a motorist from his car with home made knives and fled. Four others compelled a milk truck driver to carry them two miles, then they ran off afoot.

ULTIMATUM ISSUED IN HOLLYWOOD STRIKE

Hollywood, April 3—(P)—Motion picture producers, warning the 14,000 striking studio workers that they were determined to continue production, planned to start filling the strikers' jobs from other sources tomorrow.

The nine major studios issued an ultimatum to the strikers yesterday to get back to work by noon Wednesday under penalty of losing their jobs.

Death of Wealthy Socialite Is Probed

Raleigh, N. C., April 3—(P)—Police sought an explanation today for the strange death of a wealthy 71-year old clubwoman who was active in entertaining soldiers on Furlough.

Coroner Roy M. Banks termed circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. John V. Higham "very mysterious" and said he would not hold an inquest pending further police investigation.

Mrs. Higham was found dead yesterday morning in her home in the fashionable Hayes-Barton section, her body charred and her skull fractured.

Firemen have not been able to find the jewel box nor learn the cause of the fire, which apparently began in the bedroom. Two diamonds which Mrs. Higham customarily wore were missing from her fingers.

MINERS IDLE AS CONTRACT IS DISCUSSED

New Undisclosed Figures On Lewis' Demands Are Introduced As Negotiations Resume

30,000 REPORTED OUT

Washington, April 3—(P)—Several thousand miners were idle today in Pennsylvania pending back-to-work votes as John L. Lewis and bituminous operators resumed contract negotiations here.

One "no contract, no work" vote was taken last night by workers at two "captive" (steel company owned) mines near Uniontown, Pa. This action by the 700-member local followed receipt of a telegram from Lewis informing them the contract negotiation period had been extended and asking them to remain at work.

New but undisclosed figures on Lewis' wage demands were introduced as the mine leader and operators returned to their contract talks yesterday. Lewis' principal pay request is return of the 35-hour basic work-week with overtime for all time in excess.

The negotiating committees are to report to the War Labor Board by Saturday on the progress of the negotiations. The old contract which expired last Saturday night, was extended at WLB's direction.

Lewis lifted the extension to 30 days.

New York, April 3—(P)—Anthracite producers representing 19 companies in eastern Pennsylvania met today at the Waldorf-Astoria to discuss negotiations for a new contract which begins tomorrow with the United Mine Workers.

The operators, meeting in closed session, said they expected to make an announcement later in the day.

A 36-man UMW wage scale committee will convene tomorrow to complete demands for presentation to operators. The first joint meeting will be held tomorrow following the committee session.

Pittsburgh, April 3—(P)—More than 30,000 miners were reported idle out of 100,000 employed in the Pennsylvania soft coal fields today despite extension for 30 days of the collective bargaining contract between the United Mine Workers and Operators.

Reports to the Solid Fuels Administration office at Pittsburgh showed 45 mines employing 16,978 were down in western Pennsylvania with an additional 10,000 men absent from working pits. The SAF at Altoona reported 11 mines in central Pennsylvania employing 18,500 men were idle with absenteeism keeping many others away.

The old contract expired last Saturday night but was extended at the direction of the War Labor Board and negotiations were continuing in Washington between (Turn to Page Nine)

Capitol Hill Speculates On RFC Vacancy

Washington, April 3—(P)—Capitol Hill awaited a bit nervously today the appointment of the third man in as many months to hold the nation's biggest banking job.

The nomination of Fred M. Vinson to succeed James F. Byrnes as director of war mobilization and conversion left open Vinson's post as administrator of the $40,000,000 RFC financing and lending agencies.

While Senator Brewster (R-Me.) said the finance committee would call Vinson to the capitol for some questioning, there was every indication of speedy confirmation.

The only concern was evidenced on the score of his successor.

While the name of Leo T. Crowley, foreign economic administrator, was mentioned along with many others in their speculation on a successor, all senators emphasized it was strictly guesswork.

As a matter of fact, the sudden announcement of Byrnes' resignation caught the law-makers by surprise. They had expected him to hang on until V-E Day.

SUCCESSFUL LOCAL OPERATION IN ITALY

Rome, April 3—(P)—Eight army forces have landed behind the German lines on the narrow strip of land between the Valti Di Comacchio and the Adriatic and have captured more than 200 of the enemy. Allied headquarters announced today.

The action was officially rescribed as a "successful local operation."

Commander of Third Division Is Shot While Surrendering

By DON WHITEHEAD

With the U. S. First Army, April 3—(P)—Maj. Gen. Maurice Rose, brilliant commander of the Third Armored Division which spearheaded the First Army's great drive from the Rhine river deep into Germany was shot to death near Paderborn March 30 by a German tankman as the general started to surrender his arms after being captured.

Companions said the tall, handsome general was shot through the head as he lifted his pistol holster from his shoulder to hand it over to the German covering him and his side with a machine-pistol from the turret of a tank which infiltrated into American lines south of Paderborn.

Rose, who was always forward with advance elements giving personal directions to his combat and task force commanders, had gone to the area to direct the Third Armored Division's fight to capture an important road junction.

He started back in a jeep with his aide Maj. Robert Bollinger of White Plains, N. Y., trying to find another of his task force commanders, when he turned a curve and ran head-on into tiger tanks on the road which a short while before had been carrying First Army traffic. An armored car was following with other members of his staff.

The general's driver wheeled the jeep across a field through woods, but ran head-on into another German tank and the general got out of his jeep to surrender.

As he stood with hands over his head the German holding a machine pistol in the tank turret un-

Deferment Limit Is Changed Again

Washington, April 3—(P)—The 30 per cent limit for draft deferments of young workers has been broken again. This time it is for "must" army and navy programs, chiefly aircraft.

As a result an additional 10,000 young workers under 30 will keep their deferred classifications instead of heading for induction stations.

The increase was for the aircraft industry, but another reported it ordered all "must" programs of both army and navy. In either case, most of the additional deferments are certain to go to the aircraft industry.

MISSISSIPPI GAPS ARE BEING PLUGGED

New Orleans, April 3—(P)—Army engineers plugged gaps in the Mississippi's last line of flood defense today as tributary streams topped all-time crest records.

The big stream itself was at flood stage or above from Iowa to the Gulf of Mexico—a 1,554 mile course.

Engineers were prepared to operate the hitherto unused Morganza floodway to divert 640,000 cubic feet of water a second from the lower river into the gulf.

Col. George H. Hudson, U. S. district engineer, said use of the 100-mile floodway appeared "strongly probable" within the next two weeks. Work to complete guide levees along the floodway is being rushed.

DEFERMENTS CANCELLED

Philadelphia, April 3—(P)—The cancellation of occupational deferments of 1,430 men between the ages of 18 and 30 in order to make them available for immediate military service has been ordered by the Regional War Production Board. The board said all but the most essential young war worker in this age bracket will lose their 2-A and 2-B classifications.

High Command Announces Spearheads Have Reached Baden Area Ten Miles South of City

NEW SLOVAKIAN DRIVE

BULLETIN
London, April 3—(P)—Russian troops have captured Wiener Neustadt, Messerschmidt assembly center 25 miles south of Vienna. Marshal Stalin announced tonight in an order of the day.

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
London, April 3—(P)—Russian spearheads have reached the Baden area about 10 miles south of Vienna, the German high command announced today, and Third Ukrainian Army units were fighting in the streets of Wiener Neustadt, 25 miles south of the capital.

Transocean said the Russians in a bold thrust from the southeast had reached the Baden area which is about midway between Vienna and Wiener Neustadt but claimed the Germans had "succeeded in halting the onrushing" Red troops in the area immediately south of the Austrian capital.

The German propaganda agency also reported Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky had started a new drive northward from his positions near Bratislava, capital of the puppet state of Slovakia, probably aimed at Bruenn, second city of Czechoslovakia and machinegun manufacturing center. At captured Modra the Russians were about 70 miles southeast of Bruenn.

The Germans said Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian Army troops were battering at the gates of Bratislava and indicated the Germans were prepared to sacrifice the city on the scale of Budapest.

The Nazi radio also predicted an early assault on Berlin from the Russian's middle Oder springboards, reporting that "actively" behind the main Red army lines before the Reich capital.

"Vienna now is in the fighting zone," said the Transocean broadcast.

Another Russian force was reported attacking the Semmering Pass in the Austrian Alps, 27 miles southwest of Wiener Neustadt. (Turn to Page Nine)

SENATE DEMOCRATS TO CAUCUS ON PUC POST

Harrisburg, April 3—(P)—Senate Democrats today withheld decision pending caucus on whether they will permit confirmation of Harold A. Scragg as public utility commissioner, but several said privately they expected approval.

Governor Martin elevated Scragg from PUC legal counsel to commissioner yesterday, filling a vacancy caused by expiration of Democrat Thomas C. Buchanan's term Saturday. The job pays $10,000.

Grave Concern Felt For Fruit In State

Philadelphia, April 3—(P)—Grave concern for fruit crops both in Pennsylvania and New Jersey was expressed today by Agriculture Extension Representative Charles K. Halliwell.

"We regard the period from now until April 10 and 11 as extremely critical" for peaches, strawberries, and apples, all of which have bloomed unusually early this year, he said.

The weather bureau reported a cold wave sweeping down from Canada may bring frost to this area by tomorrow morning and injure the early-blooming fruit trees.

"We look for a temperature in the 30's by Wednesday," a bureau spokesman said, "and it's likely to raise thunder with crops."

Today is the 30th anniversary of the famous 1915 pre-Easter blizzard when 19.4 inches of snow fell.

79 National Cemeteries For War Dead and Wives Planned

Washington, April 3—(P)—Congress will be asked for a $122,000,000 appropriation to provide 79 national cemeteries with a capacity of 5,335,500 graves for American war veterans and their wives or widows.

Included in the proposal of the war department are funds for the return of the American dead of World War II to this country for burial.

This was disclosed today in a study prepared by the quartermaster general's office for the senate military affairs committee.

Made public by Senator Hill (D-Ala.), author of legislation for a national cemetery program, the study recommends $109,000,000 for 25,000.

Cemetery locations recommended by the war department and their capacity include Franklin, Pa.,

To Conduct Survey in High School To Determine Worth Of Curriculum and Teaching

At the April meeting of school board Monday evening, authorization was given for a survey to be made in the high school next year by the Department of Public Instruction and the Middle Atlantic Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges.

The general purpose of the survey is a study of the curriculum, the teaching and its effectiveness, and the school plant itself. Similar studies have been instituted throughout the country over the past few seasons, several Warren teachers having assisted in surveys at Erie, Bradford and Kane.

Ann Hultberg, school nurse in the Warren district for the past 21 years, tendered her resignation, effective with the close of the current term. In its acceptance, the board instructed Superintendent John G. Rossman to write her a letter expressing its appreciation for her years of faithful service.

David Spies, 26 Frank street, part-time senior and member of this year's graduating class, was employed as part-time assistant in the high school storeroom for the remainder of the term.

Reports from Harrisburg were read approving the orthographic classes in operation at South and Beatty buildings. Other routine reports were given by the medical and attendance departments, the former showing an unusually large amount of sickness among staff members, accounting for 74 1/2 days' absence in the past month.

A letter was read from the Pine Grove township school board expressing its appreciation for the recent basketball season. A committee representing the newly organized East Street School PTA was present to recommend certain changes in the physical plans and equipment of the building.

Carlton Kurz, former Beatty staff member who has been on military leave and is now honorably discharged from the service, resumed his duties this morning, instructing classes in mechanical drawing and history.

Receipts were acknowledged from the state department in the sum of $200.92 for the defense training program and for one-half of the annual state appropriation subsidizing teachers' salaries, this sum amounted to $17,820.26. The federal grant of $1,114.08 for the school lunch program was also received and acknowledged.

Use of Beatty building was granted the Community PTA Council for community youth events on April 7 and 21st, and permission was granted Mary B. Conway for continuation of her private kindergarten at the East street building.

The main portion of supplies for the next school year were purchased in the amount of $3,900.

A complaint was received from residents in the vicinity of the McClintock building regarding older boys causing annoyance playing about the school after hours and in the evening. The disposition of the directors was that boys should be permitted about the property, but if they persist in conducting themselves in a manner that is objectionable to people who reside in the vicinity police action may be resorted to.

HELD TRAINING SCHOOL

Yesterday both the Allegheny National Forest and the State Department of Forests and Waters held training schools for their fire lookouts and gave them instructions on the proper methods of observing and reporting. There were 14 in attendance at the Federal Forest school. The fire situation this week weather is feared by the forest officials who feel that the fire potentiality will be great. It is accepted that responsibility will be fixed for starting of fires and damages will be collected from those whose carelessness starts the conflagration. Everyone is asked to cooperate while in the woods as the manpower shortage makes fire fighting difficult.

Flock Culling Suggestions Made by Dodd

Warren county poultry producers should cull normally, but not excessively, to keep up laying efficiency, according to N. E. Dodd, chairman of the Warren County A.A.A. Committee. He explained that the Nation's 1945 egg requirements can be met by normal production from the number of hens on farms January 1.

"The production of chicks for flock replacement should be about the same as last year," says Mr. Dodd, "but growers should secure chicks earlier so as to have more pullets for fall and early winter laying. Any chicks raised and not needed for flock replacement will find a ready market for meat."

Mr. Dodd urges Warren county producers with broader space not needed for laying flock replacements to use the extra space for broilers and roasters. The resulting addition to the meat supply would come during the season's low point for other meats.

The general feed picture is favorable and prospects are for considerably more feed per animal unit than was available last year.

Corry Boys Sought Here By City Police

A message from Corry received last evening at the police station sent the coppers out on a hunt for two Corry boys who had left their home for a start on a world tour.

The two lads, brothers Leonard Hardiner, 15, and Atwood Hardiner, 14, are the lads sought. The older lad wore corduroy pants of brown and a brown coat, while the smaller boy had a light blue reversible jacket and blue pants. The boys took $90 and the ration books from their grandfather and left home. A message has also been placed on the police teletype.

One of the village stews wandered into the police station last evening after several calls had reported him as making a nuisance of himself on the street. He was locked up.

Boys with a slingshot taking pot shots at other lads in their vicinity on South South street were lectured by the officers and the slingshots confiscated.

A quantity of glass from a broken street light shade was swept up at Fifth avenue and Market street after it had been reported by a councilman.

The April meeting of the North Warren Civic Club was held in the community house last evening with an attendance of about 50 members.

While the business session was in progress a rehearsal was called for the coming minstrel show, in which several members of the club will participate.

At the conclusion of the business, Dr. L. E. Seavy introduced the guest speaker, Judge Allison D. Wade. His talk on our court system and how it applies to us as individuals and a society was most interesting. His remarks were punctuated with a humor that tended to make it a very enjoyable evening.

Following the program, the social committee served refreshments.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Miller, of Schenectady, N. Y., is visiting her mother, Mrs. George H. Miller, Rogers Mills.

Mrs. Frank Wood and son, John, have returned after a few days spent with Mrs. Wood's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Edwards, Union Springs, N. Y.

Mrs. Della Landers has returned to Corry after a visit at the home of her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Isenman, Central avenue.

Deposit Boxes Being Placed For Collection of Clothing

Deposit boxes are being placed in most of the stores of the borough and rural districts for the intensive campaign being conducted this month throughout Warren county for contributions of usable clothing for the United Nations war relief, sponsored locally by the Kiwanis club.

The campaign is a part of the United National Clothing Collection, and garments, bedding and shoes acquired in the drive will be sent abroad for distribution to the 125,000,000 people of the war devastated nations.

A quota of at least five pounds per capita has been established and those in charge of the county campaign are confident that this amount will be secured. All schools and stores have been designated as sub-stations and residents may leave their contributions at any of these places, or at the central receiving depot which is to be opened at the Smith garage at the foot of Market street.

J. A. Blomquist is chairman of the Kiwanis club committee which has been hard at work on the plans for the past month. The past couple days the committee has been busy distributing cards to the stores where boxes will be available.

The suggestion is made that residents should not wait to be solicited, but should immediately select serviceable clean clothing, shoes and bedding, and take it to their neighborhood store or to any other collection station.

Deposit boxes painted blue and decorated with the Kiwanis Club emblem are being placed in a number of stores in the business district. These will be for the accommodation of any person who may desire to bring contributions to town when they are doing their shopping.

Officials point out that what is needed is good substantial used clothing, for both winter and summer wear. Although clothing need not be in perfect repair, it must be useful to the people who receive it. Underclothing and all types of cotton garments should be washed before they are donated, but need not be ironed.

Most urgently needed are the following:

Infants' garments—All types, particularly knit goods.

Men's and boys' garments—Overcoats, topcoats, suits, coats, jackets, shirts, all types of work clothes, sweaters, underwear, robes, pajamas, knitted gloves.

Women's and girls' garments—Overcoats, jackets, skirts, sweaters, shawls, dresses, underwear, aprons, jumpers, smocks, robes, nightwear, knitted gloves.

Caps and knitted headwear—Serviceable heavy duty caps and knitted headwear (such as stocking caps) are needed. Women's hats, dress hats and derbies cannot be used.

Bedding—Blankets, afghans, sheets, pillow cases, quilts.

Shoes—Oxfords or high shoes, of durable type with low or medium heels. (Shoes with high heels, open toes or backs, evening slippers, and novelty types cannot be used).

Usable remnants, piece goods, cut or uncut materials (cottons, rayons, woolsens, etc.) one yard or more in length, but not rags or badly damaged, dirty and wornout fabrics.

CORYDON

Corydon, April 2.—Special Easter services were held Sunday in both the Corydon churches. The Youth Fellowship of the Methodist Episcopal church were present for the sunrise service and Easter breakfast supervised by Mrs. Paul Dunlap.

At ten-thirty Sunday morning was held the church school and a program was presented also. This was followed by a timely and inspiring message by the pastor the Rev. Verrel A. Oviatt, whose sermon was based on "An Easter Journey".

During Holy Week the Rev. Alan Pfautz, pastor of the local Nazarene church occupied the pulpit at Kinzua Methodist during a two evening stand. Numerous followers of both Corydon churches were in attendance.

Mrs. Margaret Coates, teacher of the local school arranged time for an Easter party last Friday that featured an Easter egg hunt for pupils. Some fifty prettily colored eggs placed in various places about the schoolhouse grounds kept children on the hunt for some little time.

Hostess for the Missionary Work Society the past week was Mrs. Lydia Bentley. Her aides were, Mrs. Dorothy Harding and Mrs. Earl Hekinger, at whose home the meeting was held. Approximately 24 were present. Members of the society finished their a comforter. Upon conclusion lunch was served.

Some twenty persons gathered at the E. M. Stoltz home Friday evening where a shower was held for Mrs. Alan Pfautz. A social time was enjoyed and refreshments served.

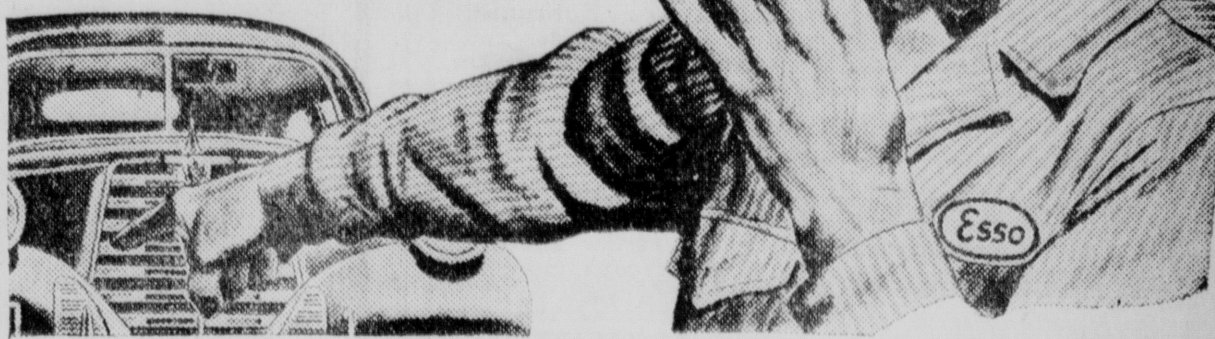

Those spending the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Stoltz, included Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Browne and daughter, Edwin, Mr. and Mrs. John Hedden and sons, Allegany, Mr. and Mrs. Garth Stoltz and son, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Stoltz and family Bradford and others from away.

1. CHANGE THAT OIL! Sure... you're used to thinking of a Spring Oil Change. This time DO it and do it now. Don't let the old thin, cold-weather oil!

2. LUBRICATE THAT CHASSIS. The older the car, the greater the friction in moving parts. The greater the friction, the faster the wear. You never needed the protection of an expert, all-out, every-spot lubrication job as you need it... right this minute!

3. WATCH THOSE TIRES. They've just been through months of ice and snow and sand and slush. Your tire chains have banged at the rubber. You've probably been a little careless about proper air pressure. Let us look them over now, fix them up for extra miles to come!

4. HOW'S THAT BATTERY? Pretty tired and beaten up? Ready to quit when hot weather gets at it? Let us go over it with care, refill, recharge, replace if necessary... and let's by all means do it now!

YOUNGVILLE NEWS

Youngville, April 2.—Good weather on Easter added to the large number in attendance at the Easter services. Rev. Nore Gustafson of Warren brought the message at the Lutheran sunrise service which was very well attended. There was music at this service and at 10 a. m. Easter program, the church choir assisted.

In the early morning Methodist service, the young people conducted a very inspiring Easter program. The choir under the leadership of Mrs. Jack assisted with singing of a special number. Mrs. Clair Hendrickson played a violin solo. Miss Mary Caldwell was the leader. Miss Anndrey Smith gave a reading and Mrs. Paul Reynolds brought an Easter message. Warren Carr lead in the closing program.

Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

HUMAN RIGHTS AT SAN FRANCISCO

To err," says a famous proverb, "is human." Fortunately, however, it is also human to try to profit by our mistakes. Human blundering kept us from making the first World War the last, and human shortsightedness brought us almost to disaster before the tide turned in our favor this time. The United Nations determination that this shall not happen again is the keynote of the San Francisco Conference.

At the end of the last war we made the mistake of believing that peace would take care of itself. When the guns were silenced we went back to "minding our own business," neither noticing nor caring what went on in other lands. Ethiopia, we thought, was far away. Fascism, unpleasant though it sounded, we discounted as a way of life peculiar to Italy. Even the rise of Hitler found most of us unmoved. We dismissed him as a "crackpot," and laughed at his ratings.

Thus it went on, until we saw that we had missed the forest for the trees. The "local incident" in Ethiopia led to aggressions in Spain, Albania, Greece, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland. Fascism, once peculiar to Italy, spread like wildfire over Europe. And that German "crackpot," who began by attacking minorities in Germany, finally became the greatest single enemy humanity had ever known. The small flame that consumed at first the rights and freedoms of a very few, soon spread until it threatened to devour all.

The protection of individual rights, wherever they may be threatened, is no longer a question of altruism. Most of us have stopped feeling like Santa Claus because we are doing our share to bring peace to the world. For now we know that the only hope for our own security lies in a peace that protects the rights of all peoples, wherever they may live.

Freedom of worship, speech and assembly; equal justice under the law—basic human rights that have been ours for many generations—these must be guaranteed in every country of the world by the United Nations. Human freedoms must come out of the blueprints at San Francisco, for international security is unattainable unless individuals within nations are secure. Let us have a realistic world organization, armed with a potent, functioning Commission on Human Rights. Only then do we stand a chance of avoiding the errors of the past.

BACKED AGAINST THE ALPS

Faced with the certainty that time and the Allied tide won't wait even for the fuhrer of the super race, Herr Hitler will have to move fast if he is to carry out to the full his desperate scheme of holding-up in the Bavarian Alps with picked Nazi troops for a final stand against the invaders.

The way things are going the Nazi dictator and his fanatical minions will be neatly boxed before long in their death cell in the mountains. The Allied armies are rapidly cutting up northern Germany into jig-saw sections within which Hitler's men and resources are being trapped for annihilation.

A few short weeks ago merchants were asked to shovel snow to the curb and not into the gutter to aid in its removal by the street department. Now to help keep the streets cleaner and more sanitary a request is made that walks be swept at night so that the debris may be gathered by the sweeper during the early morning hours. Not a bad idea.

Children who play about public school property after classes must refrain from rowdiness unless they wish such privileges denied them by officials. Little cooperation from the youngsters will be appreciated by all concerned.

Looks like a lot of German soldiers are determined to get back home even if they have to thumb a ride from an American jeep.

The best place to cast your cast-off clothing is right into the Kiwanis Club collection during the month of April.

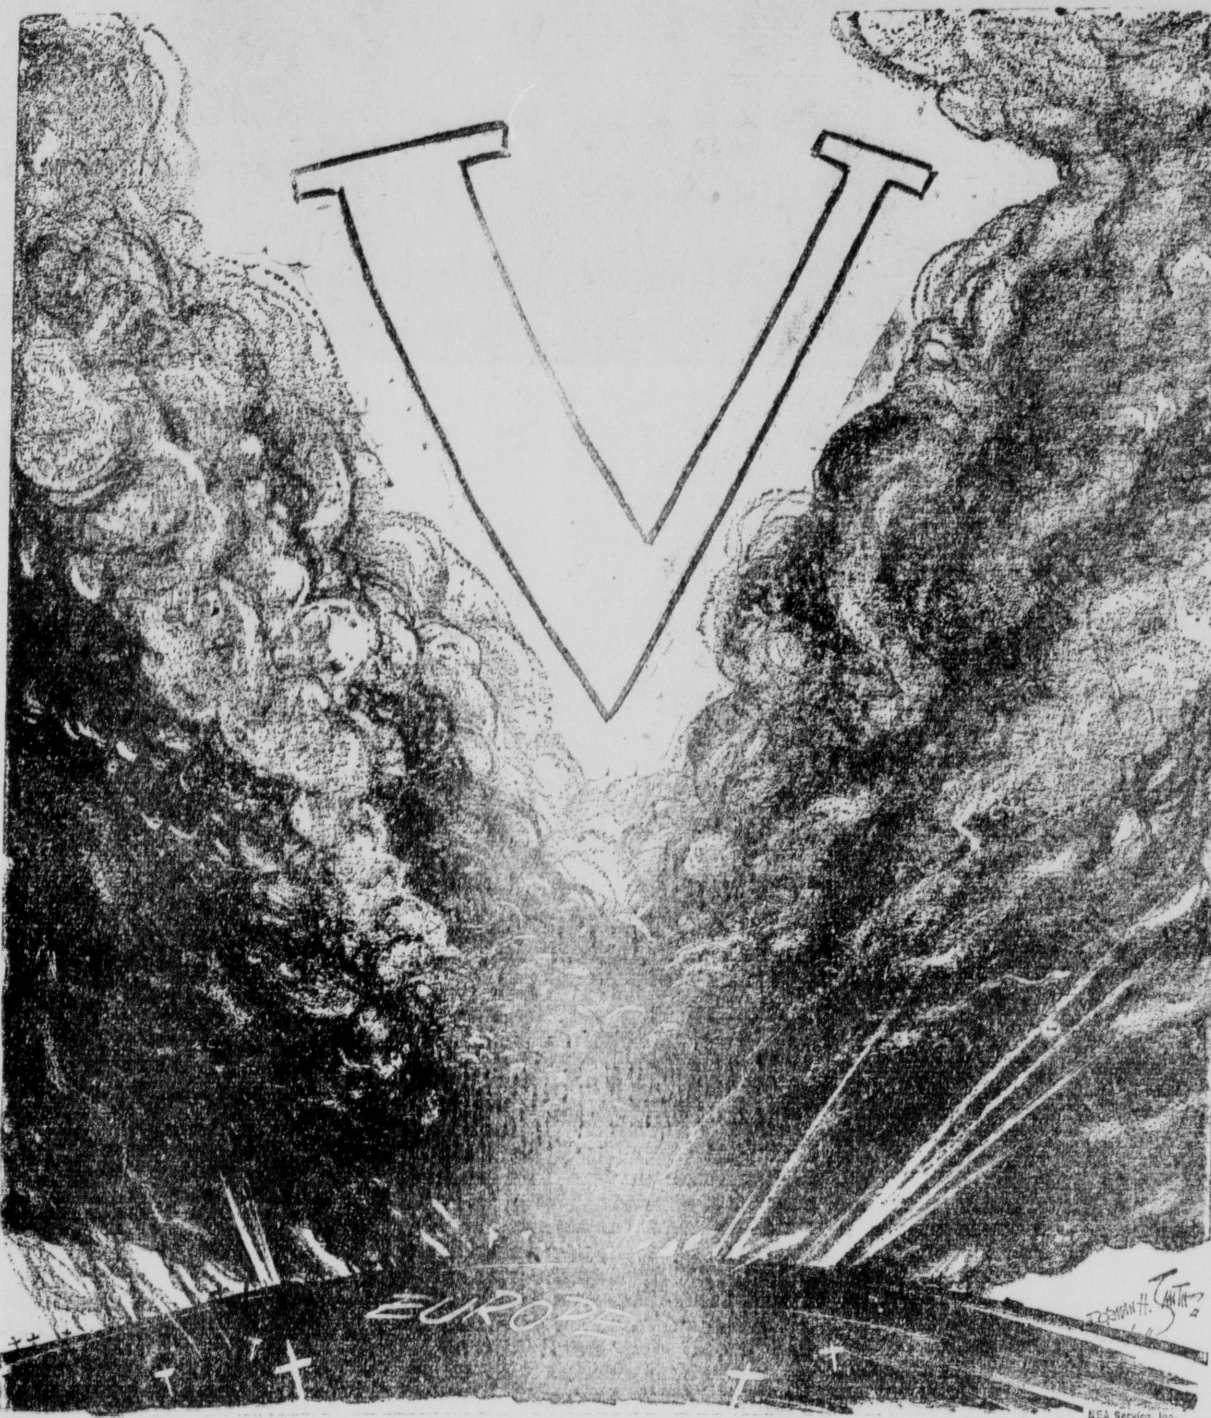

The Russians are taking the high road, the Yanks the low road—and they may get to Berlin together.

"What Can You Spare That They Can Wear?"

Spare time, as well as spare clothing shoes and bedding, is essential in the success of the United National Clothing Collection for overseas relief.

In assembling, sorting, and packing the 150,000,000 pounds of serviceable used apparel, which is the goal of the campaign, willing hands are needed in every community headquarters and receiving depot. When you come with your gift of clothing for the suffering and destitute war victims abroad, offer your spare time service to your local committee.

There is a United National Clothing Collection receiving depot in your neighborhood. See that your spare apparel is delivered there.

WALK-AROUND OXYGEN

Walk-around oxygen units, which permit the wearer to breathe for a period of time under water, are being supplied to crews of our modern bombers. The walk-around unit is primarily for the purpose of keeping a man trapped in a plane which has crashed on the water from drowning before he has a chance to free himself from the wreckage. A man equipped with a walk-around unit should be able to breathe about six minutes at a depth of 10 feet, five minutes at 20 to 25 feet and 3½ minutes at 50 feet.

Cut Ordered In Allotment of Pulp for Paper

With plans going forward in every county in the state for the observance of Pennsylvania's paper holiday, announced by Governor Martin to begin on April 1, the war production board has reduced the amount of wood pulp to be used for facial tissues, paper towels, wrapping paper, bags and other civilian paper items in April, May and June.

The reductions were ordered, according to W. P. B., because it was found necessary to curtail allotments of pulp to paper and paperboard mills by about 82,000 tons under the amount authorized for the present quarter.

Wood pulp authorized for the manufacture of kraft grocery and variety bag paper for the first quarter of this year was 79,432 tons, and a further cut of 10 per cent, was made on February 6. It was announced in Washington that of the 82,000 cut for the second quarter of the year, nearly one-half, or 40,000 tons, was in coarse paper such as grocery bag and

By EVELYN MURRAY CAMPBELL

YESTERDAY: Carey laughs when Cynthia offers the garden house to the Brandons. They wouldn't waste the time it takes to get to the plant, he retorts. Slowly but surely a coolness grows up between them. Cynthia, fearing that he would find out that she was not really sick, but afraid of what people would say about her marrying a younger man while she had a married daughter, decides to get up. She takes more interest in her surroundings and after a talk with Chester, provides him with the money to open his own apartment, without Vera's knowledge. Her friend, Anne Holt visits her and tells her that she has a way of getting around most things. "Cynthia," she says, "you need a tonic."

Chapter 20
ANNE lighted one of her irremediable brown paper cigarettes.

"So you're going through that phase? It doesn't usually come so soon, but then you're a brainy woman. But it isn't fatal." Cynthia's eyes, unveiled for a moment, asked why and her mentor went on, "There's a way of getting around most things." Anne told her, "Carey didn't marry you for a soft spot, or for social prestige or any of those foolish things. He loved you. You have some but not enough of them all to make it worth his while. And he'll go on loving you as if he was fifty instead of thirty if you'll be the woman he fell in love with up at the lake last summer."

Cynthia repeated after her. "Be the woman? But I am. I haven't changed. I adore him."

"Of course you do. Maybe you shouldn't. Adoring people gets awfully tiresome. They demand so much—usually their own way. I didn't mention adoring. I said be the same woman, you'll remember."

Cynthia looked helpless. "I don't follow you, Anne. I must be getting on to the dumb age."

Anne gave her a swift, calculating glance and spoke of other things. "I've had a lovely summer but I think I'll settle down in the old town and do Red Cross work this year."

Chapter 21
VERA was furious.

"What right had you to interfere with us? You spoiled everything. I was so happy with Chester in this little place. I thought it was ours—and it was yours—yours—I! You were paying for it!"

"How can you be so cruel, so unjust, Vera? I only wanted you to be happy—to help you."

"Happy in your way. Helped in your way. All yours."

"But—but it was the only way I could—"

"I had Chester—all I wanted. But you wouldn't let us find our own way. It had to be yours."

An ugly, tragic little drama in which inhibitions got the upper hand and played it out. Cynthia went away feeling sore and beaten and the next day Maud told her that Vera had gone away to stay with friends. She was going to find herself a job and earn her own money, Maud said, bursting into tears.

winter," she said, admiring her charming legs, slim ankles, exquisitely shod. "I've always been fond of the place I went to school—a sign of age on my part, too—There are so many charming people here and I can easily lie about the classes I was in."

"I hope you will," Cynthia gave money to the Red Cross every month but she had never sewed woolen skirts and nightgowns for unknown people in the far corners of the earth. They seemed ephemeral. Red Cross to her meant wounds and sickness and heroic nurses facing horrors. She shuddered.

"I like your Ned Almon," Anne mused. "Why didn't you fall in love with him? Then you wouldn't be tortured by inhibitions."

"You don't plan to fall in love," Cynthia sighed. "It just takes you by the hair and yanks you around."

Anne smiled. "You don't fall in love if you have control. Now this Ned of yours—I think I'll marry him myself."

Cynthia's laugh had a hollow note to its merriness. A woman feels like that when someone takes an old lover and builds him up to a husband.

"I wish you luck!" she cried gaily. "Ned is as real as good roast beef."

"I like roast beef," Anne was not amused. "I may bring out the romance in him, at that. It has to be cultivated, you know, in all the stages."

Anne was so wise.

THE Vera debacle came a little later. It came unheralded. Chester had four days to get himself in order but it transpired that he and Vera had known it was coming, only they hadn't mentioned it to Cynthia.

"You'll come home and wait, of course," Cynthia cried. "Darling! I'll be glad to have you back. You and Chester will both have time to grow while you're apart."

"I won't get over loving him if that's what you mean," Vera said with her side-long Egyptian look. "And I won't come home."

It was final. "You'll stay with Maud, then," Cynthia hid the hurt successfully. "You can't live alone—at your age."

"Chester couldn't support me."

on twenty-one per. Vera's smile flickered. She was never real. Uncle Sam must think that wives go back into the woodwork for the duration.

Chester had never supported her but she didn't know that, thank heaven. Cynthia thought of the monthly check she had signed. It would be a lot easier with Vera living at home but she wouldn't think of that.

Time vanished in a whirl of busy hours. Chester was packing his kit. Awkward and shaky at first but growing more assured as the time grew near. Cynthia managed a last talk with the long-legged boy who yesterday was coming home from High School with Vera for lemonade and cookies fed by Maud.

"You mustn't worry about her. She'll have everything she wants. That was wrong somehow. He stared at her. "I won't worry. Now, it's been fine but not exactly the way we wanted it. I feel differently about it now—joining up, I mean. The whole set up is different."

"I'm glad if I've helped," Cynthia said.

He kept on staring. "Oh, you were swell, Mrs. Winslow. But I mean talking it over with Carey. I talked to him about the army or he talked to me, whatever way you want to put it. He came over to our place one evening and when he went away, Vera and I—Vera just knows, that's all."

Vera was there when Carey came.

"Sure, she was there. We all talked together." After that the boy shut up like a clam.

So she had been left out. Why hadn't Carey asked her to go along and see the children in their dark house? Vera shivered. She had shown it time and again, yet he was the one to give them safe going and make the way seem a little smoother. What could Carey do that she couldn't have done?

It didn't add up right because Vera wouldn't come home. She stayed with Maud for a few days and when Cynthia against her rising pride asked her again to come home the scene that had been hovering over them broke into storm.

Vera knew. Chester had told her before he went away.

CYNTHIA went out more than ever. She had to defy someone and the public was always there. One night she came home to find Carey not asleep as usual but looking out at the drizzling rain that had spoiled her sisters. It wasn't late but suddenly she felt as if it was.

"Oh, Carey, why didn't you let me know you were waiting? Telephone Myra's house, or something? I would have come home. Or I wouldn't have gone out."

"No reason why you should miss a show." He tamped out his cigarette and turned to face her. Her heart suddenly stood still.

"The fact is, I was waiting to tell you that I'm going back tonight."

It was then that she saw the suitcase by the door and his pipes and neckties gone with all the little signs that made up his share of the big front room. But she only heard one word. Going.

He was smiling at her and his teeth were so even and white—almost cruel. "For a little while—maybe only a few days," he said.

He went on from there, words making a meaningless jumble—something about time lost on the long drive to and from the plane plant. "More than two hours out of twenty-four, just sitting in a car. We can't afford that—America, I mean. We need every minute we can save at any price."

He couldn't know what this meant to her! "You need everything but me!" she cried brokenly. "That two hours means me. Don't you see that? What part of your life belongs to me? Not any. Not any now. You belong to your work—you've made it a god—that horrible plant!" The words rushed out. They had been waiting at her lips, to catch her unaware. Now they were said.

She nodded, not smiling any more.

"You're right about that, Cynthia. I do belong to the plant while the plant needs me. I wish I had more to give. He was very grave. "I can only give as much as I can."

She went on being desperate, throwing everything away. "But I am I nothing?"

Reception Given Easter Cantata Is Great Encouragement to Music Guild

The presentation of the Warren Music Guild, under the direction of Jackson Barrell, of Dubois' famed Easter cantata "The Seven Last Words of Christ," at the community Good Friday evening service held at First Presbyterian church, was a reverent and moving performance marked by fine solos and excellent choral work.

The invocation was by Rev. Wayne Furman, of First Methodist church, and the benediction was pronounced by Dr. H. H. Barr. Narration of the scriptures for each section of the choral work was beautifully and effectively done by Harold L. Banghart. The return of Stephen D. Carrier, of New Bethlehem, opera and oratorio tenor who captivated Warren music lovers as chief soloist for "The Messiah" in December, was most welcome. He sang a solo for the offertory in addition to the tenor sections of the cantata. Eugene Bish, of East Brady, bass soloist, was heard for the first time in Warren, although he is well known throughout many sections of western Pennsylvania as a soloist in oratorio. His magnificent and pleasing voice was greatly admired. The brief soprano solo sections were sung by Emma Lou Herbert, lyric soprano and young pupil of Stephen Carrier, who showed fine musicianship and beauty of voice for one so young. The auditorium of the church was filled to capacity, and so enthusiastic was the praise for the fine work of the Warren Music Guild's choral work that this group is greatly encouraged over this initial major presentation, and plans to work immediately on a secular concert devoted to the music of Stephen Foster, which the group has undertaken under Mr. Barrell's direction with great enthusiasm.

Following the service, a reception was held in the church dining room for the choir, soloists and guests. Committee on refreshments included: Miss Gladys Young, Mrs. Francis Hettrick, Miss Frances Peterson, Hazel Kays, Mrs. Carl Lindquist and Evelyn Peterson.

Felix Mira, president of the Warren Music Guild, expressed himself as highly gratified over the response of the people of Warren to the work of this community choral society, and commended the splendid direction of Mr. Barrell.

A large number of music lovers from nearby communities attended the service, including Youngsville, Jamestown, Sheffield, DuBois, East Brady and New Bethlehem.

French Hourglasses

By NEA Service

Paris—Flashes of U. S. local color brighten up Paris spring collections. Typical is the "Kentucky" plaid which Marcel Rochas features in the black, white and red wool scarf-draped coat (right). Its stylized hourglass silhouette—broad shoulders, ample sleeves, tightly banded at the wrists, and a belted waist so close-hauled that skirt fullness looks even more voluminous—is a spring success. The same silhouette appears in dresses in shades of sand, biscuit and beige-toned wools, which introduce fullness above the waist with plentiful gathers; below it with peplums, deep ruffles and unpressed pleats. Novel treatment of pleats is shown in the Robert Piguet model at left. A cartridge row—each accented with a button—is lined up at the edge of a slim corsetlike waist to give a soft, flowing fullness to the skirt.

Pre-School Story And Picture Book Hour Is Planned Gloria Hausaman To MC Community Party On Saturday

One of the high moments in many children's lives seems to be when they secure their first public library card, with its promise of opening up a whole new world. Tiny children can be seen any day, however, long before they can sign their own names, sitting in the little folks' chairs in the children's rooms, poring over the picture books, paging through them.

Because of the great need that stories and picture books fill and the importance of establishing very early a love of good books, the public library is this week on Friday afternoon trying for the first time a "Pre-School Story and Picture Book" Hour. An entirely different technique is used with this age group and the time is much shorter.

Mrs. Betty Archibald, community story teller who has been so successful with the school age, will be in charge of this new group. She has stressed the importance of a limited number for this particular age.

It is necessary to limit the number to twenty, so reservations must be made by Friday noon for the first Pre-School hour. One group will meet at 2 o'clock and the second at 2:30, which means that forty can be accommodated.

This plan is being tried at the request of mothers in the Pre-school study clubs and because many children have been disappointed because they could not attend the community story hours. The plan has been very successful in other communities and will be continued in Warren if there is a good response.

There are 150 electric motors beneath the interior of a B-29, 140 on an LST boat, and more than 900 on a battleship.

For some time the community party has wanted to present a girl as mistress of ceremonies at a community party floor show. At Saturday night's party in Beaty school, Gloria Hausaman, home for a week's visit from New York City, will do the honors for the floor show, which starts at 10 o'clock. Gloria will have an amusing line of patter and will introduce a group of specialties, which includes new faces and new acts.

The Committee on Community Recreation met over the weekend to make plans for the community parties for the next two months. The one Saturday evening will be a "Spring Swing" with the Men About Town Band and a variety of other entertainment.

The decorating committee has cooked up an original idea for converting the gym into the community party cabaret. Table tops have in the past furnished an opportunity for carrying out some clever ideas and the one for Saturday tops them all in its appeal to young people.

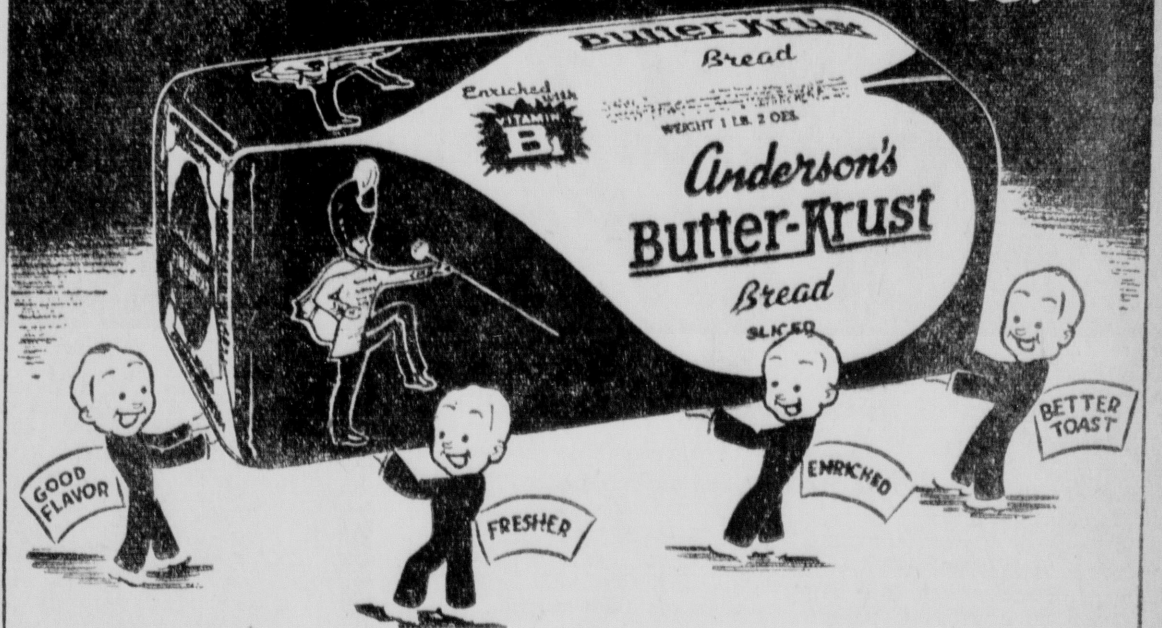

This week's party is for the age group from Freshman through high school up to twenty-one years of age. But for the first time the Beaty school group will present the auditorium show. Some of the best floor show talent has come from this group and Eleanor Peterson and Dolores Massa promise top rating entertainment in the auditorium, with two showings.

There will also be two rooms opened for table games and ping pong and a dance instruction and music listening room.

Other parties being planned include a "Gay Nineties" party on April 21st, a party in May honoring the graduating seniors, and an

ELKS LEADER REPORTS PROGRESS ON VETS NURSE RECRUITING

Washington, D. C.—Dr. Robert South Barrett, Grand Exalted Ruler of the B. P. O. Elks (left), reported to Brig. General Frank T. Hines, Administrator of Veterans' Affairs (right), that the Order had aided in the recruitment of one half of the quota of nurses required for service in the veterans' hospitals.

General Hines said: "I want to thank you for the fine work the Elks are doing to help recruit nurses to overcome the dire shortage in the Veterans' Administration. Our latest reports from the field indicate that if we had 100 additional nurses at this time, we could make immediately available 1,000 more beds. We are now receiving over 7,000 World War II veterans a month and this figure will undoubtedly increase materially when casualties begin to come in from recent operations in Europe and the Pacific areas. We will appreciate it if your fine fraternity will continue its efforts to help us obtain competent staffs of nurses to take care of these men."

Dr. Barrett assured the Administrator that the full efforts of the 650,000 members of the Elks would be directed toward this end. The 1409 Elk Buildings have been turned into informational centers where registered nurses who are not presently engaged in this vocation, or who are not qualified for Army and Navy service, may obtain all details regarding service at home with the Veterans' Administration hospitals.

What can you Spare that they can Wear?

Across the barren wastes of war-torn countries, wander multitudes of dazed and destitute people. Their appalling number, in Europe alone, is 125 million, of which more than 30 million are children. They are living in the ruins of their homes. They are working in their ravaged fields. They are kept alive more by courage than by food; warmed more by hope than by clothing . . . working and waiting—even as we—for total Peace.

These men, women, and children—innocent victims of Nazi oppression—have been robbed of all but life itself. During five long horror-filled years of war, the clothes on their backs have worn to pitiful shreds and rags. Production of new clothing has been impossible—so their need will continue long after the end of hostilities.

Many Thousands Have Died

So scarce and scanty have their garments become that, during winter months, deaths from exposure have equalled—and in some areas even exceeded—deaths due to starvation and malnutrition.

The clothing these people so desperately need is available.

Some of it now reposes in your own closet or attic! The rest of it lies, forgotten, in millions of other American homes.

150 Million Pounds Needed

Look over your family's wardrobe—now. Pick out every garment you can possibly spare—serviceable used summer as well as winter clothing and shoes—men's, women's, children's, infants'. Every American home must give its share if the goal of 150 million pounds is to be reached.

Remember, these people of war-torn countries will one day—soon—be our proud partners in the building of a peaceful world. Will you help them—now?

New York, April 3—(AP)—President Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers is steamed up again, but this time it isn't against Manager Leo Durocher and his side-line radio appearances.

He is indignant because 26-year-old Cyril Buker, 4-F right handed pitcher being groomed for a starting berth, yesterday received word from his Sturgeon Bay, Wis., draft board that he has been reclassified 1-A because of asserted job-jumping.

Several weeks ago a War Manpower Commission ruling freed ball players from their essential jobs so they might return to their principal occupation. Rickey said yesterday that "if this isn't a violation of that ruling, I don't know what is."

Buker was athletic director at Eau Claire, Wis., High School last winter but obtained his employers' permission to return to baseball after the WMC's ruling. Buker denied he is a job jumper.

The clerk of the Door County, Wis., draft board said the board decided that since Buker was last examined more than two years ago and is now going to play baseball, it felt he should undergo another examination.

Other training camp items: Boston Braves—Manager Bob Coleman has started worrying about pitching. Al Javery and Nate Andrews have ailing arms and Jim Tobin still is a holdout.

Boston Red Sox—Rex Cecil and Mike Ryba were expected to start against Yankees in exhibition game today.

Philadelphia A's—Outfielder Charley Metro and Harold Peck were notified their 4-F classification remained unchanged after a reexamination.

Philadelphia Phils—Vince DiMaggio, outfielder acquired in trade with Pittsburgh, said he would join club next week.

Chicago Cubs—Claude Passeau, expected to pitch opening game of season, was sent to Chicago for treatment of a sore arm.

Pittsburgh Pirates—Outfielder Lloyd Waner, back with first major league club he played with, said he felt like a rookie after first workout.

Cleveland Indians—Manager Lou Boudreau announced Allie Reynolds would pitch opening game of season against White Sox.

St. Louis Cardinals—Manager Billy Southworth said he planned to use Rookie Shortstop Red Schoendienst as outfielder because of his hitting power.

St. Louis Browns—Rookie Pitcher Clyde Humphrey, who has been out of the game for two years, reported at Cape Girardeau camp.

New York Yankees—Don Savage's three-run homer gave Yanks 5-2 triumph over Giants.

Red Wings and Bruins Clash In Final Go

Detroit, April 3—(AP)—The Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins tonight stretch to the limit their Stanley Cup semifinals hockey series.

Deadlocked at three victories apiece, the Wings and Bruins clash in game No. 7, with the winner qualifying for a berth in the finals against the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Red Wing Manager Jack Adams said he would make "no changes" in Detroit's line-up tonight's tussle, although he "intends to juggle some of the lines as the game progresses."

Refusing to concede the Bruins, who in six semifinal games have outscored the Red Wings, 19 to 17, any edge in the seventh game, Adams said, "I think we can beat Boston tonight."

The Bruins, on the other hand, gained confidence after they shattered a jinx last Sunday by winning the Wings, 5 to 3, their first victory over Detroit on Boston ice since Dec. 28, 1943.

Although it is unlikely, the Detroit-Boston semifinals may be extended to still another game, providing tonight's contest ends in a tie. If the teams are deadlocked at the end of the regular game and at the conclusion of successive overtime periods, play would be called at 11:45 p. m., because of the midnight curfew.

A Detroit victory tonight would open the final playoffs at Olympia here April 5, but if Boston wins, the finals will begin at Toronto on the same day.

Behind the Lines

Cleveland and Hershey enter the second game of the American Hockey League's Calder Cup playoffs tonight, with the Barons holding a one-game edge due to their 3-2 win Saturday. But Cleveland has to make a high hurdle over a not so sizeable goalie before going further. Little Nick Damore, voted the all-league goalie by fellow players, is one of the toughest defensive men in the entire loop, so, good-bye Cleveland.

The Buffalo Bisons of the International League open their home schedule on May 2, continuing through the 20th, when they begin their first road trek. They return to their hometown again May 30, and remaining for a short stay. Many local fans are planning to take in some of the Herd's contests, providing the gasoline situation can be taken care of. Information about any of the International League's games, along with those of the American and National leagues, may be secured at the T-M Sports Dept.

In Panama, Sgt. John Q. Jones is startled to learn how shocked was New York about its basketball scandal which led to Brooklyn's current John Doe investigation of gambling on college sports.

Sgt. Johnny Jones wonders what New York expected in view of the background of its college players, which is hardly lily white. "I know a lot of those boys personally, and their attitude in regard to sports," writes the Saratoga Springs Sports Editor transplanted to the Coast Artillery publication, "The Jungle Mudder".

"You couldn't even trust them in a pro game. Hire one for $25, and if he made 15 points he'd ask you for a big raise just before the next game started. Unless he got it, he would refuse to go on the floor, leaving you in a hole. Some tall stories could be told without stretching the truth one iota."

"As publicity director for an entry in the New York State Professional Basketball League, I observed too well the tactics not only to metropolitan stars, but their coaches as well."

"Clubs in the pro league were Albany, Troy, Glens Falls and Saratoga Springs, in upstate New York, and Pittsfield, Mass. Each had one or more New York college luminaries. One was practically all college talent."

"Pro loops in Massachusetts, Connecticut and Maine drew talent from the rich New York college field."

"The practice of college players performing with the pros under aliases was generally overlooked by the coaches of New York University, Brooklyn St. John's, Fordham, City College of New York, Brooklyn College, Brooklyn St. Francis and Long Island University."

"In fact, one coach made only the stipulation that his ace forward should not compete professionally the night before his college club went into action. His only objection was having a tired player for an important college contest."

Perhaps if all the information on college basketball's behind the scenes activity were offered, cages throughout the nation, would begin to realize that all isn't just right and that too many incidents are soft-pedaled.

Mikan Voted Top Basketball Ace of Season as New York Coaches Pick All-Involving 5

BY FRANK ECK

AP Newsfeature Sports Writer
New York—George Mikan, 6-foot-9 center for DePaul University of Chicago is the nation's No. 1 basketball player in the opinion of New York's five veteran coaches.

The five coaches each selected an All-Garden team for AP Newsfeatures. The selections made were on the strength of the players' Garden games. New York cagers were omitted since coaches have a tendency to name their own men.

Bob Kurkland, Okla. A&M;

George Kok, Arkansas; Alex Groza, Kentucky; Paul Walther, Tennessee.

Coaches voting were Joe Lapchick, St. John's; Howard Cann, N. Y. U.; Nat Holman, C. C. N. Y.; Ed Kelleher, Army, and Elmer Ripley, Columbia. Ned Irish, the Garden's acting president, and the writer also named a team.

Each coach voted separately and had no knowledge of "the other fellows' selections."

Mikan, who still has another season of eligibility, tallied 420 points during the regular season. However, his selection as top man was based on the way he paced his mates to victory in the national invitation tournament.

Mikan netted 120 points in three games, getting 33 against West Virginia, 53 against Rhode Island State for a new Garden individual record and 34 in the final against Bowling Green State of Ohio.

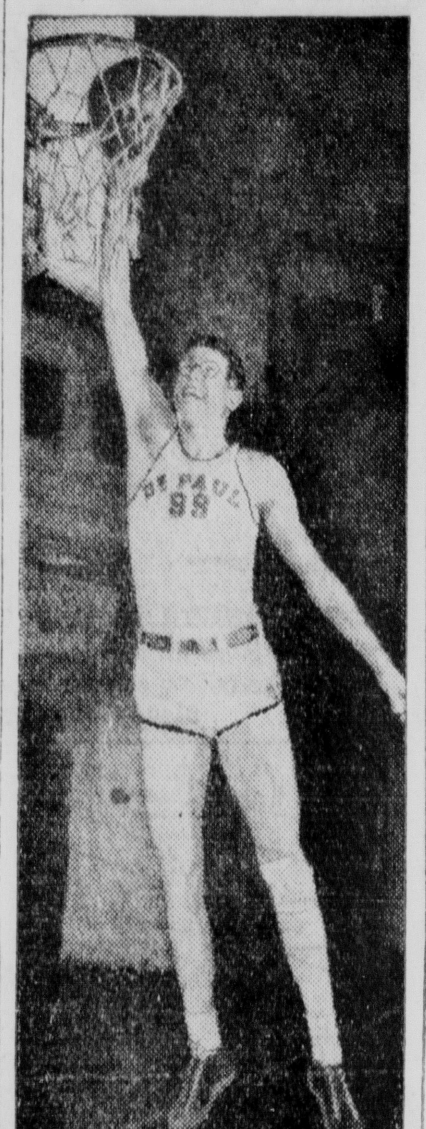

Arnold Ferrin, Utah's 18-year-old sophomore now in the Army, was rated right behind Mikan. The 6-3½ blond from Ogden, Utah, the sensation of the '944 tournament, won his place by making 17 points in a losing cause. St. John's beat the Utes by one point.

Ernie Salverley, who tallied 497 points in 22 regular games for Rhode Island, amassed 64 markers in his four New York contests, his high being 25 in the invitation against St. John's. He's the smallest man on the team, being 5-10.

Wyndol Gray of Bowling Green

gave a superb exhibition of ball handling in his three games here, though he made only 36 points. He netted 363 in 23 games during the regular season. Gray is a V-12 and played for Great Lakes during the 1943-44 season.

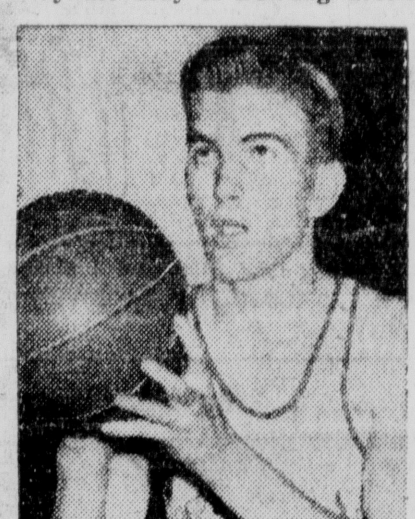

George Ratterman of Notre Dame, who is slated to become a

The selections do not include the Red Cross final in which Mikan was pitted against seven-foot Bob Kurkland, Oklahoma A. & M. star, who was chosen as one of the five reserves.

Rule Changes Boost College Football Game

BY HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, April 3—(P)—College football, given a lift by the re-appearance of the T-formation, received another offensive boost in the 1945 revamping of the playing code, in the opinion of Col. William Bingham, chairman of the NCAA gridiron rules committee.

"Certainly, the right to pass from any point behind the line of scrimmage adds punch to the offensive while the new rule which allows a substitute to report to any of the officials on the field adds speed," he said last night at the close of a 48-hour rule rewriting job.

Most surprising change formulated by the rules group in its first session since shortly after Pearl Harbor, dealt with the kickoff. In the future the first out-of-bounds boot will be regarded as an accident, but on the second the receiving team will put the ball in play on the kicking eleven's 40-yard line.

To improve the kicker's accuracy, the ball may be raised one inch from the ground. The committee avoided the use of the word "tee" to permit the kicking team a chance to raise the ball in any manner it found fit.

Locally Known Pilot On Overseas Quint

From the 8th Air Force fighter station in England it is learned that 2nd Lt. Reinald A. Nauman, P-51, Mustang pilot, is a member of the championship basketball team which represents the 20th Fighter Group in 8th Air Force competition the past season.

Made up of ex-high school and college court stars, the Mustang team—called the Skyliners—scored 21 victories over fighter and bomber quintets against three losses, and climaxed the winter campaign by winning title honors in an American Red Cross league.

Lt. Nauman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Nauman, of Stroudsburg, and husband of Mrs. Eleanor D. Nauman, 108 West Third avenue, this city, was a student at

American League Has Its Own Mad Russian; Petro, A's New Slugger, Made Stephens 4F

By FRANK ECK

AP Newsfeature Sports Writer
Frederick, Md.—The Chicago Cubs of the National League or the Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast League, or whatever club lays claim to Lou Novikoff's contract, can have the Mad Russian. The American League has its own Mad Russian.

He is Charlie Metro (Moreskovich) of Nanty-Glo, Pa., and Mayfield, Ky.

When you speak of the St. Louis Browns having won the 1944 American League pennant, give a little credit to Metro.

Break For The Browns
Without Shortstop Vernon Stephens there's no telling where the Browns would have finished. Stephens is 4F because of Metro.

Metro and Stephens were roommates when they played for Mayfield in the Kitty League in 1939. They got $75 a month and loved it. One day after a game in Hopkinsville, Ky., Metro and Stephens were in a playful mood. They agreed to an impromptu wrestling match.

Metro got a leg hold and when he let go Stephens' leg swelled up like a balloon. Stephens was rushed to the hospital. He was forced to wear a special brace. Metro had torn just about every cartilage in the knee.

That's why Vernon Stephens is 4F.

But today everything with Metro is on the serious side as he continues to make rapid strides to win over the left field post with the Philadelphia Athletics.

"This is the chance I've been waiting for," says Metro. "I'm going to make good because I feel like Al Simmons always felt. That I'm one of the best outfielders in baseball. I've talked that angle into my head so that nothing can change my mind."

That's exactly the way Charlie spoke a few hours before the opening exhibition game against the Philadelphia Athletics.

"This is the chance I've been waiting for," says Metro. "I'm going to make good because I feel like Al Simmons always felt. That I'm one of the best outfielders in baseball. I've talked that angle

Need for Garden Greens Doubled by Rationed Diet

For Quality Swiss Chard, Keep Leaves Under 10 Inches Tall.

No Victory garden should be without at least one row of "greens" this year. With strictly rationed meats and dairy products, the "green, leafy vegetables," as nutritionists call them, are the chief available source of the vitamins and minerals which everyone, especially children, needs.

Swiss chard and New Zealand spinach are most popular for home gardens, because they bear all season long, and give a huge yield from small space. They are so easy to grow, they are often neglected, and served less often than they should be, because they become unattractive.

There is no excuse for allowing Swiss chard leaves to grow big and coarse. They are at their best when ten inches tall or less, and if they grow higher, should be ruthlessly cut, so that other and younger leaves can grow in their place. An entire plant can be cut off, two inches above the ground and will soon recover, and produce young leaves again.

New Zealand spinach may be difficult to germinate when sown in warm soil, as is usually advised. But sow it early, as soon as the soil can be prepared, and the cold weather will help break down the hard seed, with much better results.

Seeds are often dropped and spend the winter in the garden, germinating in the spring. Plants grow large enough to fill a bushel basket, so give them plenty of room. The tips of the stems are cut off to use.

Turnip greens are popular in the south, usually grown from a variety, such as Seven-top, which produces only greens, with no edible root.

The mustard family provides several varieties of greens. All the mustards are quick growing, and are much esteemed in the southern states.

Garden sorrel is a hardy perennial, which will live over winter and produce greens. It does best in light shade.

Kale is a fall and winter plant. Sown in June, the plants set out in rows two feet apart, they will produce leaves which stand freezing, and are improved in flavor by that experience. Collards are a member of the cabbage family which do not make heads, but leaves with cabbage flavor.

It is well for the home gardener to plant a small quantity of several kinds so that the family does not grow tired of greens. All produce a surprising quantity of food on small space.

Our Merchant MarineWorld's Largest Convoy.

The world's largest convoy, 167 merchant ships has successfully crossed the Atlantic with over one million tons of cargo.

On board were over 10,000 vehicles (which if placed end to end would extend the 26 miles from England to France), grain, lumber, food, locomotives, tanks, steel, oil, etc.

An escort ship, checking identification pennants, required 5 hours at full speed to travel up and down the convoy lanes.

75, or 43%, of the ships were American, another indication of the service being given by the U.S. Merchant Marine to the armed forces and the war effort.

Commander of Third Div. Is Shot While Surrendering

(From Page One)
I "don't understand," the general kept saying, according to Bellinger.

Then apparently the general thought his captor meant for him to surrender his arms and he took his hands down to lift the holster from his shoulder. That was when the German fired.

Bellinger and other officers and men in the armored car made a dash for freedom, making their way to their headquarters hours later. The general's body was found where he was shot.

Miners Idle As Contract Is Discussed

All mines in the area were closed yesterday, celebration of Mitchell-Lewis day, the anniversary of the inauguration of the eight-hour day.

Many of the UMW locals held meetings in the afternoon or evening and agreed to accept the contract extension ordered last week by the War Labor Board and accepted by their national president, John L. Lewis, and by the operators.

Maj. Gen. Hodge's 24th Corps Severs Thin Waist of South-Central Island By Reaching Tobara

RESISTANCE IS SLIGHT

By ELMONT WAITE
Guam, April 3—(P)—Almost 10 days ahead of schedule, 24th Corps infantrymen were on the eastern shore of Okinawa just above Nakagusuku Bay today. They bisected the strategic island in a swift two-day dash against slight resistance.

Observation planes, meanwhile, operated off of two captured airfields, Katena and Yontan. This indicated that before long land-based combat planes will join the mighty armada of carrier aircraft closely supporting the strangely easy invasion of the principal Ryukyu island, only 325 miles south of Japan itself.

Maj. Gen. John R. Hodge's 24th Corps severed the thin waist of south-central Okinawa by reaching the east coast village of Tobara in a two and one-half mile drive yesterday, the second day of the campaign.

The Yanks were on the shores of Katsuren Bay, immediately north of the extensive anchorage at Kakagusuku Bay—once a favorite maneuvering ground of the Japanese fleet.

So far this has been the easiest invasion of the entire Pacific war. Not a single Japanese prisoner of war has been taken.

The Japanese garrison has been estimated in strength at more than 60,000 troops—a sizable fighting force. Approximately 100,000 Americans are involved in the operation by Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Bulmer Jr.'s newly-activated Tenth Army, which includes army and marine units.

Naval guns, field artillery and Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's great carrier force—he has 1,500 aircraft at his command—gave close support to the ground operations.

Unloading of supplies onto the beaches was proceeding so fast that troops inland complained the material was piling up on them.

The 1,400-ship American armada off Okinawa was attacked by Japanese planes invasion night and five were shot down. No indication was given of fleet damage, if any.

Japan's Domei news agency claimed, meanwhile, that 14 U. S. ships had been sunk or damaged by air and surface units "so far" in the Okinawa campaign.

One surprise of this campaign is the number of Japanese women found in Nipponese army uniforms.

Baruch and Flynn Confer in London

By ALEX SINGLETON
London, April 3—(P)—Two of President Roosevelt's top-ranking advisers were in the same London hotel today, giving rise to speculation whether their presence was keyed to the expectation of Germany's collapse.

They were Presidential Adviser Bernard Baruch and Edward J. Flynn, former Democratic national committee chairman. Presumably they would have the opportunity now to discuss Flynn's trip to Yalta, Moscow, the Vatican and Paris, as well as Baruch's week-end conferences with Prime Minister Churchill.

So far as could be ascertained, Flynn was planning to leave London later this week for Washington, but the duration of Baruch's stay remained indefinite. Some speculated he might remain here until the collapse of the Nazis, as the president's on-the-spot representative.

Allies Advance To Striking Distance Of the Zuider Zee

Hard-Hitting American Third Army In Central Germany Advances Almost Thirty Miles Overnight Within Close Junction With Reds

PATTON REPORTED TO BE STORMING INTO SUHL

BULLETINS
Kassel, Germany, April 3—(P)—This Hessian manufacturing city 165 miles from Berlin was falling today to Third Army infantry of the 80th Division, which was fighting forward house-by-house and street-by-street.

Eindhoven, Holland, April 3—(P)—Allied troops have captured Hengelo, 19 miles northeast of Arnhem, The Free Netherlands radio said today. Hengelo is a Dutch city of 40,000 near the German frontier west of captured Rheine.

By JAMES M. LONG

Paris, April 3—(P)—British and Canadian troops advanced to within striking distance of the Zuider Zee and North Sea today in a great effort to trap all Germans in Holland, while Americans fought within nine miles of the Weser river and tightened the Ruhr trap on 110,000 doomed Nazis.

The hard-hitting American Third Army in central Germany advanced almost 30 miles overnight to within 160 miles of a junction with the Russians on the eastern front—a move that would bisect the Reich.

The Third Army whipped across the tough terrain of the Thuringian forest to within 80 miles of the Czechoslovak frontier at points more than 180 miles inside the Reich.

The Germans said Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's army was storming Suhl, 65 miles from Czechoslovakia, and had surrounded Meiningen, 12 miles northeast of Weimar, birthplace of the short-lived German republic. This would mark Third Army advances of near 50 miles since yesterday and place the Americans three-fourths of the way across the waist of Germany.

Seventh army tanks were said by the enemy to have cut the railroad from invested Wuerzburg to Ansbach, 23 miles southwest of Neurnberg (431,000).

A security blackout hid most Third Army movements. A dispatch from Gen. Omar N. Bradley's 12th Army group headquarters gave these distances, but censors did not permit towns to be named. The dispatch said Patton still was 155 miles from Berlin. Parts of his forces presumably still were fighting inside Kassel and Fulda, both entered yesterday.

The Canadians menaced Arnhem, bridged the lower Rhine twice and fought toward the Zuider Zee, less than 25 miles away. When they reach the great water mass, cities such as Amsterdam, Rotterdam and the Hague will be sealed off for liberation.

The British fought to within five miles of Osnabruck, which was bypassed, and within 60 miles of the North sea, and the cities of Bremen and Hannover. The U. S. Ninth army moved to within 50 miles of Hannover (Pop. 472,527) when its second armored (Hell on Wheels) division reached the Werre river south of Herford at a point nine miles from the Weser. The Weser and the Elbe river are the only large streams ahead on the high road to Berlin.

Bielefeld was outflanked, bypassed and threatened frontally by the Americans (190 miles from Berlin).

RAF night raiders also attacked enemy communications and airfields over a large area in north-west Germany and Holland.

A rocket bomb attack last night by RAF coastal command planes destroyed or damaged seven German merchant ships and exploded a large dry dock in the anchorage of Sande Fjord on the Norwegian coast, it was announced today.

Bad weather grounded Britain-based heavy bombers again yesterday. For the first time they were idle for two days straight.

Meanwhile, it was officially announced that Allied planes operating from Britain and bases here.

"Only Hate Holds Them Together, Inner Differences of Allies Unsolvable."

Not since the war started has such vindictive material appeared even the most official Nazi organs. To usually well informed Allied observers it signaled a desperate effort to keep some outward resistance going until the Nazis can form an underground organization with possibly Berchtesgaden as a headquarters.

The emergence of the "werewolves" and other guerrilla bands which the Germans say are operating behind Allied lines were seen as part of this projected movement.

Adolf Hitler's own Voelkischer Beobachter keynoted the campaign with screaming headlines such as: "Brutal Hate Regiment in Cologne," "Traitor Fallen Before"

Hate Campaign Is Launched Against Allies In Germany

By THOMAS HAWKINS
Bern, Switzerland, April 3—(P)—Nazi propagandists are resorting to widespread use of obviously fictitious stories of Allied atrocities in a last effort to spur military and civilian resistance in the waning hours of the Third Reich.

Two Shot In Philadelphia Prison Break

Philadelphia, April 3—(P)—Ten prisoners escaped today from Eastern Penitentiary through a 50-foot tunnel and six were captured several hours later.

Five other convicts were seized by prison guards as they emerged from the tunnel and five more were trapped underground, Warden Herbert Smith said.

Horace Bowers, one of the escapees, was reported in critical condition following an exchange of shots between the fleeing convicts and police. Robert McKnight, another prisoner, also was wounded.

The warden said the men escaped during the breakfast hour. He said the tunnel started in the prisoners' exercise yard and extended under an outer prison wall.

Bowers was serving a life sentence from Luzerne county for the murder of a state policeman and McKnight was sent up from Delaware county for life after a first degree murder conviction.

The convicts crawled out of a tunnel almost directly beneath a wall-top guard tower. Two of them forced a motorist from his car with home made knives and fled. Four others compelled a milk truck driver to carry them two miles, then they ran off afoot.

Will Not Ask More Votes In World Parley

Washington, April 3—(P)—President Roosevelt has decided that the United States will not request any additional votes in the world assembly to be proposed at the San Francisco conference.

As the American group met in the state department, Presidential Secretary Jonathan Daniels told reporters in the White House across the street that he had no reason to revise his opinion that the Golden Gate conference will assemble on April 25, as scheduled.

Daniels referred to the state department a question whether President Roosevelt is in communication with Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill regarding the question of representation in the proposed world assembly.

At Yalta, Russia asked an additional vote each for the Ukrainian and White Russian Soviets for a total of three and the United States countered by suggesting an additional two votes for itself.

The Yalta agreement to put the proposition before the United Nations conference failed to specify on what basis the American votes would be asked. Experts here have thus far been unable to figure out any means of making the request formally.

Diplomats speculated that the San Francisco meeting itself may have to decide the issue of Polish representation.

Death of Wealthy Socialite Is Probed

Raleigh, N. C., April 3—(P)—Police sought an explanation today for the strange death of a wealthy 71-year old clubwoman who was active in entertaining soldiers on furlough.

Coroner Roy M. Banks termed circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. John V. Higham "very mysterious" and said he would not hold an inquest pending further police investigation.

MINERS IDLE AS CONTRACT IS DISCUSSED

New Undisclosed Figures On Lewis' Demands Are Introduced As Negotiations Resume

30,000 REPORTED OUT

Washington, April 3—(P)—Several thousand miners were idle today in Pennsylvania pending back-to-work votes as John L. Lewis and bituminous operators resumed contract negotiations here.

One "no contract, no work" vote was taken last night by workers at two "captive" (steel company owned) mines near Uniontown, Pa. This action by the 700-member local followed receipt of a telegram from Lewis informing them the contract negotiation period had been extended and asking them to remain at work.

New but undisclosed figures on Lewis' wage demands were introduced as the mine leader and operators returned to their contract talks yesterday. Lewis' principal pay request is return of the 35-hour basic work-week with overtime for all time in excess.

The negotiating committees are to report to the War Labor Board by Saturday on the progress of the negotiations. The old contract which expired last Saturday night, was extended at WLB's direction.

Lewis lifted the extension to 30 days.

New York, April 3—(P)—Anthracite producers representing 19 companies in eastern Pennsylvania met today at the Waldorf-Astoria to discuss negotiations for a new contract which begins tomorrow with the United Mine Workers.

The operators, meeting in closed session, said they expected to make an announcement later in the day.

A 36-man UMW wage scale committee will convene tomorrow to complete demands for presentation to operators. The first joint meeting will be held tomorrow following the committee session.

Pittsburgh, April 3—(P)—More than 30,000 miners were reported idle out of 100,000 employed in the Pennsylvania soft coal fields today despite extension for 30 days of the collective bargaining contract between the United Mine Workers and Operators.

Reports to the Solid Fuels Administration office at Pittsburgh showed 45 mines employing 16,978 were down in western Pennsylvania with an additional 10,000 men absent from working pits.

The SAF at Altoona reported 11 mines in central Pennsylvania employing 1850 men were idle with absenteeism keeping many others away.

The old contract expired last Saturday night but was extended at the direction of the War Labor Board and negotiations were continuing in Washington between (Turn to Page Nine)

Capitol Hill Speculates On RFC Vacancy

Washington, April 3—(P)—Capitol Hill awaited a bit nervous today the appointment of the third man in as many months to hold the nation's biggest banking job.

The nomination of Fred M. Vinson to succeed James F. Byrnes as director of war mobilization and reconversion left open Vinson's post as administrator of the $40,000,000 RFC financing and lending agencies.

While Senator Brewster (R-Me.) said the finance committee would call Vinson to the capital for some questioning, there was every indication of speedy confirmation.

The only concern was evidenced on the score of his successor. While the name of Leo T. Crowley, foreign economic administrator, was mentioned along with many others in their speculation on a successor, all senators emphasized it was strictly guesswork.

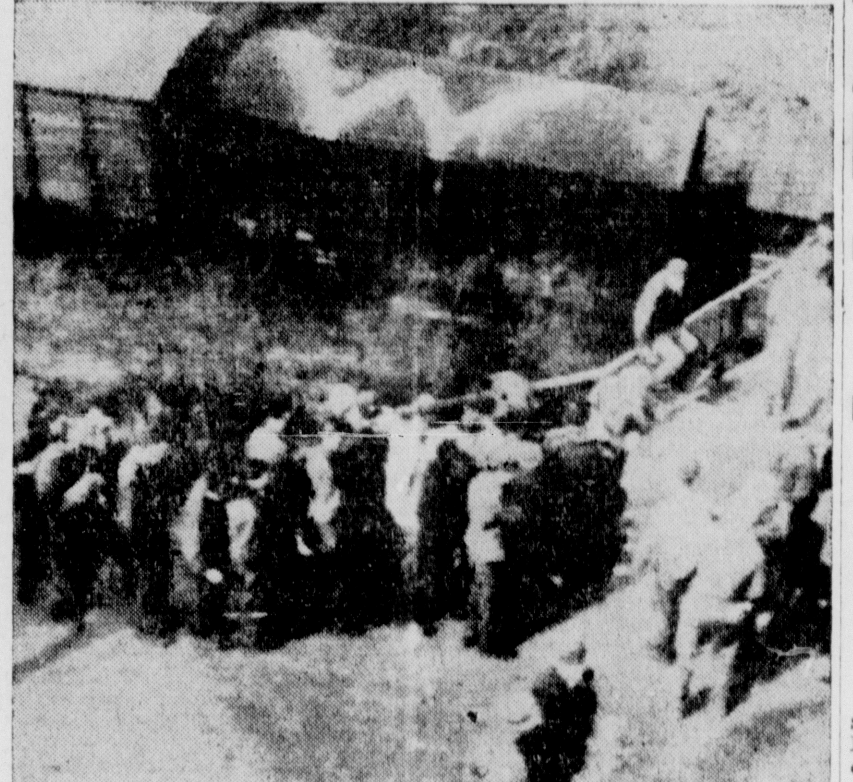

As a matter of fact, the sudden announcement of Byrnes' resignation caught the law-makers by surprise. They had expected him to hang on until V-E Day.

SUCCESSFUL LOCAL OPERATION IN ITALY

Rome, April 3—(P)—Eight army forces have landed behind the German lines on the narrow strip of land between the Valli Di Comacchio and the Adriatic and have captured more than 200 of the enemy, Allied headquarters announced today.

The action was officially rescribed as a "successful local operation."

Commander of Third Division Is Shot While Surrendering

By DON WHITEHEAD
With the U. S. First Army, April 3—(P)—Maj. Gen. Maurice Rose, brilliant commander of the Third Armored Division which spearheaded the First Army's great drive from the Rhine river deep into Germany was shot to death near Paderborn March 30 by a German tankman as the general started to surrender his arms after being captured.

Companions said the tall, handsome general was shot through the head as he lifted his pistol holster from his shoulder to hand it over to the German covering him and his side with a machine-pistol from the turret of a tank which infiltrated into American lines south of Paderborn.

Rose, who was always forward with advance elements giving personal directions to his combat and task force commanders, had gone to the area to direct the Third Armored Division's fight to capture an important road junction.

He started back in a jeep with his aide, Maj. Robert Beilinger of White Plains, N. Y., trying to find another of his task force commanders, when he turned a curve and ran head-on into tiger tanks on the road which a short while before had been carrying First Army traffic. An armored car was following with other members of his staff.

The general's driver wheeled the jeep across a field through woods, but ran head-on into another German tank and the general got out of his jeep to surrender.

As he stood with hands over his head the German holding a machine pistol in the tank turret unloading with other members of his staff.

Manila, April 3—(P)—Encirclement of Japanese in southern Luzon virtually was completed Sunday when troops of the 14th Army Corps and the 158th regimental combat team, running through a moderate but ineffective gale of Pipponee artillery fire, landed at Legaspi harbor on the southeastern "tail" of Luzon, headquarters reported today.

They quickly captured the city of Legaspi, population 45,000, and its airfield almost without a struggle.

Meanwhile, other units of Maj. Gen. Oscar W. Griswold's 14th Corps, driving the last of the Japanese in southern Luzon toward Bicol Peninsula, on which Legaspi is located, scored a telling breakthrough at Alaminos, south of Laguna De Bay.

Troops of the 32nd Division in northern Luzon beat off two large-scale Banzai attacks Sunday around Balete Pass.

American division troops on Cebu suffered a number of casualties March 30 when retreating Japanese blew up Gochan hill north of Lahog airfield as the Doughboys were climbing it to get at Nipponese on the crest.

Nevertheless, the troops continued the battle and secured the airstrip.

In the air, fighters from the Fifth Air Force sank several Japanese barges near Infanta on Luzon's east coast while bombers belted several Formosa targets, (Turn to Page Nine)

Mississippi Gaps Are Being Plugged

New Orleans, April 3—(P)—Army engineers plugged gaps in the Mississippi's last line of flood defense today as tributary streams topped all-time crest records.

The big stream itself was at flood stage or above from Iowa to the Gulf of Mexico—a 1,554 mile course.

Engineers were prepared to operate the hitherto unused Morganza floodway to divert 640,000 cubic feet of water a second from the lower river into the gulf.

Col. George H. Hudson, U. S. district engineer, said use of the 100-mile floodway appeared "strongly probable" within the next two weeks. Work to complete guide levees along the floodway is being rushed.

DEFERMENTS CANCELED
Philadelphia, April 3—(P)—The cancellation of occupational deferments of 1,430 men between the ages of 18 and 30 in order to make them available for immediate military service has been ordered by the Regional War Production Board. The board said all but the most essential young war worker in this age bracket will lose their 2-A and 2-B classifications.

High Command Announces Spearheads Have Reached Baden Area Ten Miles South of City

NEW SLOVAKIAN DRIVE

BULLETIN
London, April 3—(P)—Russian troops have captured Wiener Neustadt, Messerschmidt assembly center 25 miles south of Vienna. Marshal Stalin announced tonight in an order of the day.

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
London, April 3—(P)—Russian spearheads have reached the Baden area about 10 miles south of Vienna, the German high command announced today, and Third Ukrainian Army units were fighting in the streets of Wiener Neustadt, 25 miles south of the capital.

Transcoean said the Russians in a bold thrust from the southeast had reached the Baden area which is about midway between Vienna and Wiener Neustadt but claimed the Germans had "succeeded in halting the onrushing" Red troops in the area immediately south of the Austrian capital.

The German propaganda agency also reported Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky had started a new drive northward from his positions near Bratislava, capital of the puppet state of Slovakia, probably aimed at Brunn, second city of Czechoslovakia and machinegun manufacturing center. At captured Modra the Russians were about 70 miles southeast of Brunn.

The Germans said Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian Army troops were battering at the gates of Bratislava and indicated the Germans were prepared to sacrifice the city on the scale of Budapest.

The Nazi radio also predicted an early assault on Berlin from the Russian's middle Oder springboards, reporting that "lively activity had been observed" behind the main Red army lines before the Reich capital.

"Vienna now is in the fighting zone," said the Transcoean broadcast.

Another Russian force was reported attacking the Semmering Pass in the Austrian Alps, 27 miles southwest of Wiener Neustadt. (Turn to Page Nine)

SENATE DEMOCRATS TO CAUCUS ON PUC POST

Harrisburg, April 3—(P)—Senate Democrats today withheld decision pending caucus on whether they will permit confirmation of Harold A. Scragg as public utility commissioner, but several said privately they expected approval.

Governor Martin elevated Scragg from PUC legal counsel to commissioner yesterday, filling a vacancy caused by expiration of Democrat Thomas C. Buchanan's term Saturday. The job pays $10,000.

Grave Concern Felt For Fruit In State
Philadelphia, April 3—(P)—Grave concern for fruit crops both in Pennsylvania and New Jersey was expressed today by Agriculture Extension Representative Charles K. Halliwell.

"We regard the period from now until April 15 and 11 as extremely critical" for peaches, strawberries, and apples, all of which have bloomed unusually early this year, he said.

The weather bureau reported a cold wave sweeping down from Canada may bring frost to this area by tomorrow morning and injure the early-blooming fruit trees.

"We look for a temperature in the 30's by Wednesday," a bureau spokesman said, "and it's likely to raise thunder with crops."

Today is the 30th anniversary of the famous 1915 pre-Easter blizzard when 19.4 inches of snow fell.

79 National Cemeteries For War Dead and Wives Planned

Washington, April 3—(P)—Congress will be asked for a $122,900,000 appropriation to provide 79 national cemeteries with a capacity of 5,335,500 graves for American war veterans and their wives or widows.

Included in the proposal of the war department are funds for the return of the American dead of World War II to this country for burial.

This was disclosed today in a study prepared by the quartermaster general's office for the senate military affairs committee.

Made public by Senator Hill (D-Ala.), author of legislation for a national cemetery program, the study recommends $109,000,000 for 25,000 cemeteries; $2,737,000 for funeral transportation and equipment and $9,000,000 for personnel to operate the cemeteries.

"A general policy has been adopted," it said, "to return all World War dead to the United States from any theatre when 70 per cent or more of nearest of kin x x x so request."

When requests aggregate fewer than 70 per cent, each will be honored individually with the remaining dead to be buried in national cemeteries in the theatre involved.

Cemetery locations recommended by the war department and their capacity include Franklin, Pa., study recommends $109,000,000 for 25,000

To Conduct Survey In High School To Determine Worth Of Curriculum and Teaching

At the April meeting of school board Monday evening, authorization was given for a survey to be made in the high school next year by the Department of Public Instruction and the Middle Atlantic Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges.

The general purpose of the survey is a study of the curriculum, the teaching and its effectiveness, and the school plant itself. Similar studies have been instituted throughout the country over the past few seasons, several Warren teachers having assisted in surveys at Erie, Bradford and Kane.

Ann Hultberg, school nurse in the Warren district for the past 21 years, tendered her resignation, effective with the close of the current term. In its acceptance, the board instructed Superintendent John G. Rossman to write her a letter expressing its appreciation for her years of faithful service.

David Spies, 26 Frank street, part-time senior and member of this year's graduating class, was employed as part-time assistant in the high school storeroom for the remainder of the term.

Reports from Harrisburg were read approving the orthogenic classes in operation at South and Beatty buildings. Other routine reports were given by the medical and attendance departments, the former showing an unusually large amount of sickness among staff members, accounting for 74½ days' absence in the past month.

A letter was read from the Pine Grove township school board expressing its appreciation for the use of the high school gym during the recent basketball season. A committee representing the newly organized East Street School PTA was present to recommend certain changes in the physical plans and equipment of the building.

Carlton Kurz, former Beatty staff member who has been on military leave and is now honorably discharged from the service, resumed his duties this morning, instructing classes in mechanical drawing and history.

Receipts were acknowledged from the state department in the sum of $200.92 for the defense training program and for one-half of the annual state appropriation subsidizing teachers, salaries, this sum amounted to $17,820.26. The federal grant of $1,114.08 for the school lunch program was also received and acknowledged.

Use of Beatty building was granted by the Community PTA Council for community youth events on April 7 and 21st, and permission was granted Mary B. Conway for continuation of her private kindergarten at the East street building.

The main portion of supplies for the next school year were purchased in the amount of $3,600.

A complaint was received from residents in the vicinity of the McClinch building regarding older boys causing annoyance playing about the school after hours and in the evening. The disposition of the directors was that boys should be permitted about the property, but if they persist in conducting themselves in a manner that is objectionable to people who reside in the vicinity police action may be resorted to.

Corry Boys Sought Here By City Police

A message from Corry received last evening at the police station sent the coppers out on a hunt for two Corry boys who had left their home for a start on a wild tour.

The two lads, brothers, Leonard Hardiner, 15, and Atwood Hardiner, 14, are the lads sought. The older lad wore corduroy pants of brown and a brown coat, while the smaller boy had a light blue reversible jacket and blue pants.

The boys took $60 and the ration books from their grandmother and left home. A message has also been placed on the police teletype.

One of the village stews wandered into the police station last evening after several calls had reported him as making a nuisance of himself on the street. He was locked up.

Boys with a slingshot taking pot shots at other lads in their vicinity on South South street were lectured by the officers and the slingshots confiscated.

A quantity of glass from a broken street light shade was swept up at Fifth avenue and Market street after it had been reported by a councilman.

Civic Club Is Addressed By Judge Wade

The April meeting of the North Warren Civic Club was held in the community house last evening with an attendance of about 50 members.

While the business session was in progress, a rehearsal was called for the coming minstrel show, in which several members of the club will participate.

At the conclusion of the business, Dr. L. E. Seavy introduced the guest speaker, Judge Allison D. Wade. His talk on our court system and how it applies to us as individuals and a society was most interesting. His remarks were punctuated with a humor that tended to make it a very enjoyable evening.

Following the program, the social committee served refreshments.

INSTALLS AT BRADFORD

H. D. Baker, of this city, deputy grand exalted ruler, installed new officers for the coming term at the Bradford Lodge of Elks last evening. This evening he will be in charge of the installation at the semi-monthly meeting of Warren Lodge. Tomorrow evening he will be in Punxsutawney.

PROPOSE NEW PLAN

The street committee of the Town Council made the suggestion that all business houses in the city sweep their sidewalks at the close of business for the day. Then the street sweeper will gather up the rubbish during the night and the next morning will and the streets neat and clean. Commissioner E. T. Beck feels that this will give better satisfaction throughout the city.

PLAN COMMUNITY HOUSE

Residents of Starbuck are at work circulating a paper asking for subscriptions toward the building of a Community House. The workers for the project have plans to buy a building in the community and remodel it to an extent whereby it can be used for various events such as gatherings, church suppers, community entertainment, etc. Much success is being met with in the canvass.

NOT STAG AFFAIR

Attention of the members and friends is called to announcement by the Brookstraw Fish and Game Club that its annual dinner on April 6 is not a stag party but is open to all interested, men and women. The dinner is to be served in the high school promptly at 6:30 p. m. Friday. The 25 tickets allotted locally for the Warren Field and Stream may be had until noon Wednesday at the Finley store.

THE STATE POLICE SAY:

Many questions arise regarding the operating privileges of members of the armed forces. An act of Legislature provides that; any man or woman having a valid Pennsylvania Operators' License at time of induction into the armed forces may use that license in Pennsylvania, without renewal, for the duration. Applications for renewal can be made within sixty days after honorable discharge from the armed forces without the necessity of an examination.

HELD TRAINING SCHOOL

Yesterday both the Allegheny National Forest and the State Department of Forests and Waters held training schools for their fire lookouts and gave them instructions on the proper methods of observing and reporting. There were 14 in attendance at the Federal Forest school. The fire situation this wet weather is feared by the forest officials who feel that the fire potentiality will be great. It is accented that responsibility will be fixed for starting of fires and damages will be collected from those whose carelessness starts the conflagration. Everyone is asked to cooperate while in the woods as the manpower shortage makes fire fighting difficult.

Attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Doolittle, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Doolittle, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Drissell, Margaret Drissell, Mrs. Marion Fannin, Wattsburg; M. M. Doolittle and Mrs. Carl Ahrens, North East.

Flock Culling Suggestions Made by Dodd

Warren county poultry producers should cull normally, but not excessively, to keep up laying efficiency, according to N. E. Dodd, chairman of the Warren County AAA Committee. He explained that the Nation's 1945 egg requirements can be met by normal production from the number of hens on farms January 1.

"The production of chicks for flock replacement should be about the same as last year," says Mr. Dodd, "but growers should secure chicks earlier so as to have more pullets for fall and early winter laying. Any chicks raised and not needed for flock replacement will find a ready market for meat."

Mr. Dodd urges Warren county producers with broader space not needed for laying flock replacement to use the extra space for broilers and roasters. The resulting addition to the meat supply would come during the season's low point for other meats.

The general feed picture is favorable and prospects are for considerably more feed per animal unit than was available last year.

Deposit Boxes Being Placed For Collection of Clothing

Deposit boxes are being placed in most of the stores of the borough and rural districts for the intensive campaign being conducted this month throughout Warren county for contributions of usable clothing for the United Nations war relief, sponsored locally by the Kiwanis club.

The campaign is a part of the United National Clothing Collection, and garments, bedding and shoes acquired in the drive will be sent abroad for distribution to the 125,000,000 people of the war devastated nations.

A quota of at least five pounds per capita has been established and those in charge of the campaign are confident that this amount will be secured. All schools and stores have been designated as sub-stations and residents may leave their contributions at any of these places, or at the central receiving depot which is to be opened in the Smith garage at the foot of Market street.

J. A. Blomquist is chairman of the Kiwanis club committee which has been hard at work on the plans for the past month. The past couple days the committee has been busy distributing cards to the stores where boxes will be available.

The suggestion is made that residents should not wait to be solicited, but should immediately select serviceable clean clothing, shoes and bedding, and take it to their neighborhood store or to any other collection station.

Deposit boxes painted blue and decorated with the Kiwanis Club emblem are being placed in a number of stores in the business district. These will be for the accommodation of any person who may desire to bring contributions to town when they are doing their shopping.

Officials point out that what is needed is good substantial used clothing, for both winter and summer wear. Although clothing need not be in perfect repair, it must be useful to the people who receive it. Underclothing and all types of cotton garments should be washed before ironed.

Those they are donated, but need not be. Most urgently needed are the following:

Infants' garments—All types, particularly knit goods.
Men's and boys' garments—Overcoats, topcoats, suits, coats, jackets, shirts, all types of work clothes, sweaters, underwear, robes, pajamas, knitted gloves.

Women's and girls' garments—Overcoats, jackets, skirts, sweaters, shawls, dresses, underwear, aprons, jumpers, smocks, robes, nightwear, knitted gloves.

Caps and knitted headwear—Serviceable heavy duty caps and knitted headwear (such as stocking caps) are needed. Women's hats, dress hats and derbies cannot be used.

Bedding—Blankets, afghans, sheets, pillow cases, quilts.
Shoes—Oxfords or high shoes, of durable type with low or medium heels. (Shoes with high heels, open toes or backs, evening slippers, and novelty types cannot be used).

Usable remnants, piece goods—Cut or uncut materials (cottons, rayons, wools, etc.) one yard or more in length, but not rags or badly damaged, dirty and wornout fabrics.

CORYDON

Corydon, April 2.—Special Easter services were held Sunday in both the Corydon churches. The Youth Fellowship of the Methodist Episcopal church were present for the sunrise service and Easter breakfast supervised by Mrs. Paul Duntley.

At ten-thirty Sunday morning was held the church school and a program was presented also. This was followed by a timely and inspiring message by the pastor, the Rev. Verard A. Oviatt, whose sermon was based on "An Easter Journey".

During Holy Week the Rev. Alan Plautz, pastor of the local Nazarene church occupied the pulpit at Kinzua Methodist during a two evening stand. Numerous followers of both Corydon churches were in attendance.

Mrs. Margaret Coates, teacher of the local school arranged time for an Easter party last Friday that featured an Easter egg hunt for pupils. Some very pretty colored eggs placed in various places about the schoolhouse grounds kept children on the hunt for some little time.

Hostess for the Missionary Work Society the past week was Mrs. Lydia Bentley. Her aides were Mrs. Dorothy Harding and Mrs. Earl Hedinger, at whose home the meeting was held. Approximately 24 were present. Members of the society finished their a comforter. Upon conclusion lunch was served.

Some twenty persons gathered at the E. M. Stoltz home Friday for a social gathering. A social time was enjoyed and refreshments served.

Those spending the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Stoltz included Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brown and daughter, Brad, Mr. and Mrs. John Hedden and son, Allegany, Mr. and Mrs. Garth Stoltz and son, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Stoltz and family Bradford and others from town.

Miss Mary Lou Platt, has left for Mt. Vernon, Ohio after vacationing the past few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Platt.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Rice, Alton, Ohio, and Mrs. E. C. Gorman, Ashville, and Corporal and Mrs. Leslie Pierce, Salamanca, are visitors of late of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. R. B. Caldwell. Corporal Pierce, has received a medical discharge from the United States service, owing to loss of hearing.

Carl Laubach, has returned to New York, after the recent week-end with his family.

John Reid accompanied by Mr. Magill, of Oil City, were recent visitors here.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Williams, and family of Little Valley were holiday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Williams.

Miss Lettie Smith, has returned from Berea, Ohio, where she visited Miss Beverly Price. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Crooks and son and daughter accompanied her to Cleveland.

Mrs. Paul Cook and son, Bradford, has been guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Akers.

Mrs. James W. Crooks, has returned from Jamestown, where she spent the holiday weekend. Mr. Crooks accompanied her home.

Louis and Louise Crooks, were Easter guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith.

Donna Lee Malone spent the Easter vacation period with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Tome.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Wilcox accompanied by the James R. J. Caldwell are recent Warren visitors.

Mrs. Stanley Platt and Miss Mary Lou Platt are among late Bradford visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Elder and family motored to East Brady to spend the holiday weekend with relatives.

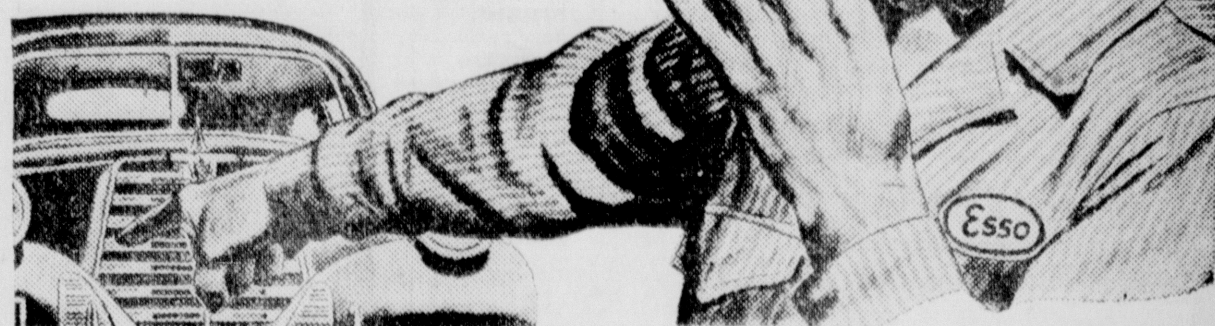

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Wilcox and son were Warren callers of recent date.

Mrs. Eileen Ammerman and children, Lockport and Mr. and Mrs. William Leonard and son were holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Kraft.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Nelson, entertained a number of guests over the holiday.

Corydon students commuting to the Bradford High school are enjoying a week's Easter vacation period, school resuming on April 9th.

IF YOU WANT TO save that car...

These 4 things are "musts" right now!

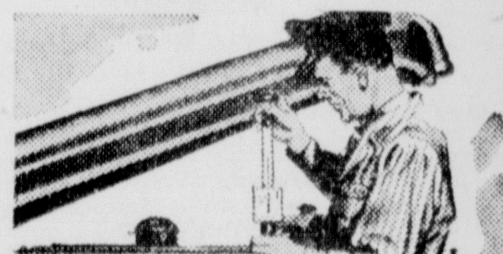

1. CHANGE THAT OIL! Sure... you're used to thinking of a Spring Oil Change. This time DO it and do it now. Don't let the old bus get caught in hot weather still using old, thin, cold-weather oil!

2. LUBRICATE THAT CHASSIS. The older the car, the greater the friction in moving parts. The greater the friction, the faster the wear. You never needed the protection of an expert, all-out, every-spot lubrication job as you need it... right this minute!

3. WATCH THOSE TIRES. They've just been through months of ice and snow and sand and slush. Your tire chains have banged at the rubber. You've probably been a little careless about proper air pressure. Let us look them over now, fix them up for extra miles to come!

4. HOW'S THAT BATTERY? Pretty tired and beaten up? Ready to quit when hot weather gets at it? Let us go over it with care, refill, recharge, replace if necessary... and let's by all means do it now!

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or steady passages with starting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging headache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

HUMAN RIGHTS AT SAN FRANCISCO

To err," says a famous proverb, "is human." Fortunately, however, it is also human to try to profit by our mistakes. Human blundering kept us from making the first World War the last, and human shortsightedness brought us almost to disaster before the tide turned in our favor this time. The United Nations determination that this shall not happen again is the keynote of the San Francisco Conference.

At the end of the last war we made the mistake of believing that peace would take care of itself. When the guns were silenced we went back to "minding our own business," neither noticing nor caring what went on in other lands. Ethiopia, we thought, was far away. Fascism, unpleasant though it sounded, we discounted as a way of life peculiar to Italy. Even the rise of Hitler found most of us unmoved. We dismissed him as a "crackpot," and laughed at his raptures.

Thus it went on, until we saw that we had missed the forest for the trees. The "local incident" in Ethiopia led to aggressions in Spain, Albania, Greece, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland. Fascism, once peculiar to Italy, spread like wildfire over Europe. And that German "crackpot," who began by attacking minorities in Germany, finally became the greatest single enemy humanity had ever known. The small flame that consumed at first the rights and freedoms of a very few, soon spread until it threatened to devour all.

The protection of individual rights, wherever they may be threatened, is no longer a question of altruism. Most of us have stopped feeling like Santa Claus because we are doing our share to bring peace to the world. For now we know that the only hope for our own security lies in a peace that protects the rights of all peoples, wherever they may live.

Freedom of worship, speech and assembly; equal justice under the law—basic human rights that have been ours for many generations—these must be guaranteed in every country of the world by the United Nations. Human freedoms must come out of the blueprints at San Francisco, for international security is unattainable unless individuals within nations are secure. Let us have a realistic world organization, armed with a potent, functioning Commission on Human Rights. Only then do we stand a chance of avoiding the errors of the past.

BACKED AGAINST THE ALPS

Faced with the certainty that time and the Allied tide won't wait even for the fuhrer of the super race, Herr Hitler will have to move fast if he is to carry out to the full his desperate scheme of holding-up in the Bavarian Alps with picked Nazi troops for a final stand against the invaders.

The way things are going the Nazi dictator and his fanatical minions will be neatly boxed before long in their death cell in the mountains. The Allied armies are rapidly cutting up northern Germany into jig-saw sections within which Hitler's men and resources are being trapped for annihilation.

A few short weeks ago merchants were asked to shovel snow to the curb and not into the gutter to aid in its removal by the street department. Now to help keep the streets cleaner and more sanitary a request is made that walks be swept at night so that the debris may be gathered by the sweeper during the early morning hours. Not a bad idea.

Children who play about public school property after classes must refrain from rowdiness unless they wish such privileges denied them by officials. Little cooperation from the youngsters will be appreciated by all concerned.

Looks like a lot of German soldiers are determined to get back home even if they have to thumb a ride from an American jeep.

"What Can You Spare That They Can Wear?"

Spare time, as well as spare clothing shoes and bedding, is essential in the success of the United National Clothing Collection for overseas relief.

In assembling, sorting, and packing the 150,000,000 pounds of serviceable used apparel, which is the goal of the campaign, willing hands are needed in every community headquarters and receiving depot. When you come with your gift of clothing for the suffering and destitute war victims abroad, offer your spare time service to your local committee.

There is a United National Clothing Collection receiving depot in your neighborhood. See that your spare apparel is delivered there.

WALK-AROUND OXYGEN

Walk-around oxygen units, which permit the wearer to breathe for a period of time under water, are being supplied to crews of our modern bombers. The walk-around unit is primarily for the purpose of keeping a man trapped in a plane which has crashed on the water from drowning before he has a chance to free himself from the wreckage. A man equipped with a walk-around unit should be able to breathe about six minutes at a depth of 10 feet, five minutes at 20 to 25 feet and 3½ minutes at 50 feet.

Cut Ordered In Allotment of Pulp for Paper

With plans going forward in every county in the state for the observance of Pennsylvania's paper holiday, announced by Governor Martin to begin on April 1, the war production board has reduced the amount of wood pulp to be used for facial tissues, paper towels, wrapping paper, bags and other civilian paper items in April, May and June.

The reductions were ordered, according to W. P. B., because it was found necessary to curtail allotments of pulp to paper and paperboard mills by about 82,000 tons under the amount authorized for the present quarter.

Wood pulp authorized for the manufacture of kraft grocery and variety bag paper for the first quarter of this year was 79,432 tons, and a further cut of 10 per cent was made on February 6. It was announced in Washington that the 82,000 cut for the second quarter of the year, nearly one-half, or 40,000 tons, was in coarse paper such as grocery bag and butcher paper. The next largest curtailment is in book paper. Purposes of the paper holiday in Pennsylvania are twofold, according to Warren R. Roberts, chairman of the State Salvage committee.

"First," said Roberts, "it is necessary that we conserve papers, because well over 50 per cent of our production goes to the armed forces, and we face a shortage of 3,000,000 tons this year."

"Second, it is necessary that we salvage all paper of all kinds. We must make up this shortage by salvaging 2,000,000 tons and conserving 1,000,000 tons of paper.

"Pennsylvania salvage goal for April and May is 66,000 tons a month, which means that every person in Pennsylvania must turn in an average of 13½ pounds of waste paper during each of these months. It isn't much to ask—a stack of newspapers as high as a broomstick weighs 100 pounds."

In thousands of retail stores throughout the state there appeared this week "Our Pledge to Conserve Paper," pledging co-operation. (Turn to Page Ten)

Second Marriage

By EVELYN MURRAY CAMPBELL

YESTERDAY: Carey laughs when Cynthia offers the garden house to the Brandons. They wouldn't waste the time it takes to get to the plant, he retorts. Slowly but surely a coolness grows up between them. Cynthia, that she really sick, but afraid of what people would say about her marrying a younger man while she had a married daughter, decides to get up. She takes more interest in her surroundings and after a talk with Chester, provides him with the money to open his own apartment, without Vera's knowledge. Her friend, Anne Holt visits her and tells her that she had taken a chance that even she would not take, marrying a younger man. "Cynthia," she says, "you need a tonic."

Chapter 20

ANNE lighted one of her interminable brown paper cigarettes.

"So you're going through that phase? It doesn't usually come so soon, but then you're a brainy woman. But it needn't be fatal. Cynthia's eyes, untraveled for a moment, asked why and her mentor went on. "There's a way of getting around most things," Anne told her. "Carey didn't marry you for a soft spot, or for social prestige or any of those foolish things. He loved you. You have some but not enough of them all to make it worth your while. And he'll go on loving you as if he was fifty instead of thirty if you'll be the woman he fell in love with up at the lake last summer—"

Cynthia repeated after her. "Be the woman? But I am. I haven't changed. I adore him."

"Of course you do. Maybe you shouldn't. Adoring people gets awfully tiresome. They demand so much—usually their own way. I didn't mention adoring. I said be the same woman, you'll remember."

Cynthia looked helpless. "I don't follow you, Anne. I must be getting on to the dumb age."

Anne gave her a swift, calculating glance and spoke of other things. "I've had a lovely summer but I think I'll settle down in the old town and do Red Cross work this winter," she said, admiring her charming legs, slim ankles, expensively shod. "I've always been fond of the place I went to school—a sign of age on my part, too—There are so many charming people here and I can easily lie about the classes I was in."

"I hope you will," Cynthia gave money to the Red Cross every month but she had never sewed woolen skirts and nightgowns for unknown people in the far corners of the earth. They seemed ephemeral. Red Cross work meant wounds and sickness and heroic nurses facing horrors. She shuddered.

"I like your Ned Almon," Anne mused. "Why didn't you fall in love with him? Then you wouldn't be tortured by inhibitions."

"You don't plan to fall in love," Cynthia sighed. "It just takes you by the hair and yanks you around."

Anne smiled. "You don't fall in love if you have control. Now this Ned of yours—I think I'll marry him myself."

Cynthia's laugh had a hollow note to it. "A woman takes an old lover and builds him up to a husband."

"I wish you luck!" she cried gaily. "Ned is as real as good roast beef."

"I like roast beef," Anne was not amused. "I may bring out the romance in him at that. It has to be cultivated, you know, in all the stages."

Anne was so wise.

THE Vera debacle came a little later. It came unheralded. Chester had four days to get himself in order but it transpired that he and Vera had known it was coming, only they hadn't mentioned it to Cynthia.

"You'll come home and wait, of course," Cynthia cried. "Darling!" I'll be glad to have you back. You and Chester will both have time to grow while you're apart."

"I won't get over loving him if that's what you mean," Vera said with her side long Egyptian look. "And I won't come home."

It was final. "You'll stay with Maud, then," Cynthia hid her hurt successfully. "You can't live alone—at your age."

"Chester couldn't support me."

CYNTHIA went out more than ever. She had to defy someone and the public was always there. One night she came home to find Carey not asleep as usual but looking out at the drizzling rain that had spoiled her slippers. It wasn't late but suddenly she felt as if it was.

"Oh, Carey, why didn't you let me know you were waiting? Telephone Myra's house, or something? I would have come home. Or I would have gone out."

"No reason why you should miss a show," He tapped out his cigarette and turned to face her. Her heart suddenly stood still. "The fact is, I was waiting to tell you that I'm going back tonight."

It was then that she saw the suitcase by the door and his pipes and neckties gone with all the little signs that made up his share of the big front room. But she only heard one word. Going.

He was smiling at her and his teeth were so even and white—almost cruel. "For a little while—maybe only a few days," he said.

He went on from there, words making a meaningless jumble—something about time lost on the plane, drive to and from the plane, "More than two hours out of twenty-four, just sitting in a car. We can't afford that—America, I mean. We need every minute we can save at any price."

He couldn't know what this meant to her! "You need everything but me!" she cried brokenly. "That two hours means me, don't you see that? What part of my life belongs to me? Not any. Not any now. You belong to your work—you've made it a god—that horrible plant!" The words rushed out. They had been waiting at her lips, to catch her unaware. Now they were said.

He nodded, not smiling any more.

"You're right about that, Cynthia. I do belong to the plant while the plant needs me. I wish I had more to give." He was very grave. "I can only give as much as I can."

She went on being desperate, throwing everything away. "But I—am I nothing?"

Reception Given Easter Cantata Is Great Encouragement to Music Guild

The presentation of the Warren Music Guild, under the direction of Jackson Barrell, of DuBois' famed Easter cantata "The Seven Last Words of Christ," at the community Good Friday evening service held at First Presbyterian church, was a reverent and moving performance marked by fine solos and excellent choral work.

The invocation was by Rev. Wayne Furman, of First Methodist church, and the benediction was pronounced by Dr. H. H. Barr. Narration of the scriptures for each section of the choral work was beautifully and effectively done by Harold L. Banghart. The return of Stephen D. Carver, of New Bethlehem, opera and oratorio tenor who captivated Warren music lovers as chief soloist for "The Messiah" in December, was most welcome. He sang a solo for the offertory in addition to the tenor sections of the cantata. Eugene Bish, of East Brady, bass soloist, was heard for the first time in Warren, although he is well known throughout many sections of western Pennsylvania as a soloist in oratorio. His magnificent and pleasing voice was greatly admired. The brief soprano solo sections were sung by Emma Lou Herbert, lyric soprano and young pupil of Stephen Carver, who showed fine musicianship and beauty of voice for one so young. The auditorium of the church was filled to capacity, and so enthusiastic was the praise for the fine work of the Warren Music Guild's choral work that this group is greatly encouraged over this initial major presentation, and plans to work immediately on a secular concert devoted to the music of Stephen Foster, which the group has undertaken under Mr. Barrell's direction with great enthusiasm.

Following the service, a reception was held in the church dining room for the choir, soloists and guests. Committee on refreshments included: Miss Gladys Young, Mrs. Francis Hettrick, Miss Frances Peterson, Hazel Kays, Mrs. Carl Lindquist and Evalyn Peterson.

Felix Mira, president of the Warren Music Guild, expressed himself as highly gratified over the response of the people of Warren to the work of this community choral society, and commended the splendid direction of Mr. Barrell.

A large number of music lovers from nearby communities attended the service, including Youngsville, Jamestown, Sheffield, DuBois, East Brady and New Bethlehem.

French Hourglasses

By NEA Service

Paris—Flashes of U. S. local color brighten up Paris spring collections. Typical is the "Kentucky" plaid which Marcel Rochas features in the black, white and red wool scarf-draped coat (right). Its stylized hourglass silhouette—broad shoulders, ample sleeves, tightly banded at the wrists, and a belted waist so close-hauled that skirt fullness looks even more voluminous—is a spring success. The same silhouette appears in dresses in shades of sand, biscuit and beige-toned wools, which introduce fullness above the waist with plentiful gathers; below it with peplums, deep ruffles and unpressed pleats. Novel treatment of pleats is shown in the Robert Piguet model at left. A cartridge roll—each accented with a button—is lined up at the edge of a slim corsetlike waist to give a soft, flowing fullness to the skirt.

Attend Golden Wedding Sun.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Fitzgerald, of Clairington, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, with a family gathering to mark the event.

Mr. Fitzgerald is one of four brothers to reach his 50th wedding anniversary. Others have been Mr. and Mrs. William S. Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. Tracie H. Fitzgerald, of Warren; Mr. and Mrs. Albert N. Fitzgerald, Franklin.

Among those attending the party on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Fitzgerald, with their son, Wayne, and his family; also their daughter, Mrs. Harold Kiser, with Mr. Kiser and their family, all from this city.

Pre-School Story And Picture Book Hour Is Planned Party On Saturday

One of the high moments in many children's lives seems to be when they secure their first public library card, with its promise of opening up a whole new world. Tiny children can be seen any day, however, long before they can sign their own names, sitting in the little folks' chairs in the children's rooms, poring over their picture books, paging through them.

Because of the great need that stories and picture books fill and the importance of establishing very early a love of good books, the public library is this week on Friday afternoon trying for the first time a "Pre-School Story and Picture Book" Hour. An entirely different technique is used with this age group and the time is much shorter.

Mrs. Betty Archibald, community story teller who has been so successful with the school age, will be in charge of this new group. She has stressed the importance of a limited number for this particular age.

It is necessary to limit the number to twenty, so reservations must be made by Friday noon for the first Pre-School hour. One group will meet at 2 o'clock and the second at 2:30, which means that forty can be accommodated.

This plan is being tried at the request of mothers in the Pre-school study clubs and because many children have been disappointed because they could not attend the community story hours. The plan has been very successful in other communities and will be continued in Warren if there is a good response.

There are 150 electric motors beneath the interior of a B-29, 140 on an LST boat, and more than 900 on a battleship.

For some time the community party has wanted to present a girl as mistress of ceremonies at a community party floor show. At Saturday night's party in Beaty school, Gloria Hausaman, home for a week's visit from New York City, will do the honors for the floor show, which starts at 10 o'clock. Gloria will have an amusing line of patter and will introduce a group of specialties, which includes new faces and new acts.

The Committee on Community Recreation met over the weekend to make plans for the community parties for the next two months. The one Saturday evening will be a "Spring Swing" with the Men About Town Band and a variety of other entertainment.

The decorating committee has cooked up an original idea for converting the gym into the community party cabaret. Table tops have in the past furnished an opportunity for carrying out some clever ideas and the one for Saturday tops them all in its appeal to young people.

This week's party is for the age group from Freshman through high school up to twenty-one years of age. But for the first time the Beaty school group will present the auditorium show. Some of the best floor show talent has come from this group and Eleanor Peters and Dolores Massa promise top rating entertainment in the auditorium, with two showings.

There will also be two rooms opened for table games and ping pong and a dance instruction and music listening room.

Other parties being planned include a "Gay Nineties" party on April 21st, a party in May honoring the graduating seniors, and an

ELKS LEADER REPORTS PROGRESS ON VETS NURSE RECRUITING

Washington, D. C.—Dr. Robert South Barrett, Grand Exalted Ruler of the B. P. O. Elks (left), reported to Brig. General Frank T. Hines, Administrator of Veterans' Affairs (right), that the Order had aided in the recruitment of one half of the quota of nurses required for service in the veteran's hospitals.

General Hines said: "I want to thank you for the fine work the Elks are doing to help recruit nurses to overcome the dire shortage in the Veterans' Administration. Our latest reports from the field indicate that if we had 100 additional nurses at this time, we could make immediately available 1,000 more beds. We are now receiving over 7,000 World War II veterans a month and this figure will undoubtedly increase materially when casualties begin to come in from recent operations in Europe and the Pacific areas. We will appreciate it if your fine fraternity will continue its efforts to help us obtain competent staffs of nurses to take care of these men."

Dr. Barrett assured the Administrator that the full efforts of the 650,000 members of the Elks would be directed toward this end. The 1409 Elk Buildings have been turned into informational centers where registered nurses who are not presently engaged in this vocation, or who are not qualified for Army and Navy service, may obtain all details regarding service at home with the Veterans' Administration hospitals.

What can you Spare that they can Wear?

Across the barren wastes of war-torn countries, wander multitudes of dazed and destitute people. Their appalling number, in Europe alone, is 125 million, of which more than 30 million are children. They are living in the ruins of their homes. They are working in their ravaged fields. They are kept alive more by courage than by food; warmed more by hope than by clothing . . . working and waiting—even as we—for total Peace.

These men, women, and children—innocent victims of Nazi oppression—have been robbed of all but life itself. During five long horror-filled years of war, the clothes on their backs have worn to pitiful shreds and rags. Production of new clothing has been impossible—so their need will continue long after the end of hostilities.

Many Thousands Have Died

So scarce and scanty have their garments become that, during winter months, deaths from exposure have equalled—and in some areas even exceeded—deaths due to starvation and malnutrition.

The clothing these people so desperately need is available.

Some of it now reposes in your own closet or attic! The rest of it lies, forgotten, in millions of other American homes.

150 Million Pounds Needed

Look over your family's wardrobe—now. Pick out every garment you can possibly spare—serviceable used summer as well as winter clothing and shoes—men's, women's, children's, infants'. Every American home must give its share if the goal of 150 million pounds is to be reached.

Remember, these people of war-torn countries will one day—soon—be our proud partners in the building of a peaceful world. Will you help them—now?

New York, April 3.—(AP)—President Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers is steamed up again, but this time it isn't against Manager Leo Durocher and his side-line radio appearances.

He is indignant because 26-year-old Cyril Buker, 4-F right handed pitcher being groomed for a starting berth, yesterday received word from his Sturgeon Bay, Wis., draft board that he has been reclassified 1-A because of asserted job-jumping.

Several weeks ago a War Manpower Commission ruling freed ball players from their essential jobs so they might return to their principal occupation. Rickey said yesterday that "if this isn't a violation of that ruling, I don't know what is."

Buker was athletic director at Eau Claire, Wis., High School last winter but obtained his employers' permission to return to baseball after the WMC's ruling. Buker denied he is a job jumper.

The clerk of the Door County, Wis., draft board said the board decided that since Buker was last examined more than two years ago and is now going to play baseball, it felt he should undergo another examination.

Other training camp items: Boston Braves—Manager Bob Coleman has started worrying about pitching. Al Javery and Nate Andrews have ailing arms and Jim Tobin still is a holdout.

Boston Red Sox—Rex Cecil and Mike Ryba were expected to start against Yankees in exhibition game today.

Philadelphia A's—Outfielder Charley Metro and Harold Peck were notified their 4-F classification remained unchanged after a reexamination.

Philadelphia Phils—Vince DiMaggio, outfielder, acquired in trade with Pittsburgh, said he would join club next week.

Chicago Cubs—Claude Passeau, expected to pitch opening game of season, was sent to Chicago for treatment of a sore arm.

Pittsburgh Pirates—Outfielder Lloyd Waner, back with first major league club he played with, said he felt like a rookie after first walkout.

Cleveland Indians—Manager Lou Boudreau announced Allie Reynolds would pitch opening game of season against White Sox.

St. Louis Cardinals—Manager Billy Southworth said he planned to use Rookie Shortstop Red Schoendienst as outfielder because of his hitting power.

St. Louis Browns—Rookie Pitcher Clyde Humphrey, who has been out of the game for two years, reported at Cape Girardeau camp.

New York Yankees—Don Savage's three-run homer gave Yanks 5-2 triumph over Giants.

Behind the Lines

Cleveland and Hershey enter the second game of the American Hockey League's Calder Cup playoffs tonight, with the Bruins looking to avenge a 3-2 loss in the first game. But Cleveland has to make a high hurdle over a not so sizeable goal before going further. Little Nick Damore, voted the all-league goalie by fellow players, is one of the toughest defensive men in the entire loop, so, good-bye Cleveland.

The Buffalo Bisons of the International League open their home schedule on May 2, continuing through the 20th, when they begin their first road trek. They return to their hometown again May 30, and remaining for a short stay. Many local fans are planning to take in some of the Herd's contests, providing the gasoline situation can be taken care of. Information about any of the International's games, along with those of the American and National leagues, may be secured at the T-M Sports Dept.

In Panama, Sgt. John Q. Jones is startled to learn how shocked was New York about its basketball scandal which led to Brooklyn's current John Doe investigation of gambling on college sports. Sgt. Johnny Jones wonders what New York expected in view of the background of its college players, which is hardly lily white.

"I know a lot of those boys personally, and their attitude in regard to sports," writes the Saratoga Springs Sports Editor transplanted to the Coast Artillery publication, "The Jungle Mudder."

"You couldn't even trust them in a pro game. Hire one for $25, and if he made 15 points he'd ask you for a big raise just before the next game started. Unless he got it, he would refuse to go on the floor, leaving you in a hole. Some tall stories could be told without stretching the truth one iota."

"As publicity director for an entry in the New York State Professional Basketball League, I observed too well the tactics not only to metropolitan stars, but their coaches as well."

"Clubs in the pro league were Albany, Troy, Glens Falls and Saratoga Springs, in upstate New York, and Pittsfield, Mass. Each had one or more New York college luminaries. One was practically all college talent."

"Pro loops in Massachusetts, Connecticut and Maine drew talent from the rich New York college field."

"The practice of college players performing with the pros under aliases was generally overlooked by the coaches of New York University, Brooklyn St. John's, Fordham, City College of New York, Brooklyn College, Brooklyn St. Francis and Long Island University."

"In fact, one coach made only the stipulation that his ace floor-man should not compete professionally the night before his college club went into action. His only objection was having a tired player for an important college contest."

Perhaps if all the information on college basketball's behind the scenes activity were offered, cage fans throughout the nation, would begin to realize that all isn't just right and that too many incidents are soft-pedaled.

Everybody reads the Times-Mirror.

Mikan Voted Top Basketball Ace of Season as New York Coaches Pick All-Invading 5

BY FRANK ECK

AP Newsfeature Sports Writer
New York—George Mikan, 6-foot-9 center for DePaul University of Chicago is the nation's No. 1 basketball player in the opinion of New York's five veteran coaches.

The five coaches each selected an All-Garden team for AP Newsfeature. The selections made were on the strength of the players' Garden games. New York cagers were omitted since coaches have a tendency to name their own men.

Each coach voted separately and had no knowledge of "the other fellow's" selections. Mikan, who still has another season of eligibility, tallied 429 points during the regular season. However, his selection as top man was based on the way he paced his mates to victory in the national invitation tournament.

Mikan netted 120 points in three games, getting 33 against West Virginia, 53 against Rhode Island State for a new Garden individual record and 34 in the final against Bowling Green State of Ohio.

Arnold Ferrin, Utah's 18-year-old sophomore now in the Army, was rated right behind Mikan. The 6-3½ blond from Ogden, Utah, the sensation of the -944 tournament, won his place by making 17 points in a losing cause. St. John's beat the Utes by one point.

Ernie Salverley, who tallied 497 points in 22 regular games for Rhode Island, amassed 64 markers in his four New York contests, his high being 25 in the invitation against St. John's. He's the smallest man on the team, being 5-10.

Wyndol Gray of Bowling Green

West Point Cadet in July, played a one-point stand in the Garden. It was enough. He made 24 points as the Irish conquered NYU. Ratterman made 234 markers in 20 games for Notre Dame.

The selections do not include the Red Cross final in which Mikan was pitted against seven-foot Bob Kirkland, Oklahoma A. & M. star, who was chosen as one of the five reserves.

Rule Changes Boost College Football Game

BY HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, April 3.—(AP)—College football, given a lift by the re-appearance of the T-formation, received another offensive boost in the 1945 revamping of the playing code, in the opinion of Col. William Bingham, chairman of the NCAA gridiron rules committee.

"Certainly, the right to pass from any point behind the line of scrimmage adds punch to the offensive while the new rule which allows a substitute to report to any of the officials on the field adds speed," he said last night at the close of a 48-hour rule rewriting job.

Most surprising change formulated by the rules group in its first session since shortly after Pearl Harbor, dealt with the kickoff. In the future the first out-of-bounds boot will be regarded as an accident, but on the second the receiving team will put the ball in play on the kicking eleven's 40-yard line.

To improve the kicker's accuracy, the ball may be raised one inch from the ground. The committee avoided the use of the word "tee" to permit the kicking team a chance to raise the ball in any manner it found fit.

American League Has Its Own Mad Russian; Petro, A's New Slugger, Made Stephens 4F

By FRANK ECK

AP Newsfeature Sports Writer
Frederick, Md.—The Chicago Cubs of the National League or the Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast League, or whatever club lays claim to Lou Novikoff's contract, can have the Mad Russian. The American League has its own Mad Russian.

He is Charlie Metro (Moreskovich) of Nanty-Glo, Pa., and Mayfield, Ky.

When you speak of the St. Louis Browns having won the 1944 American League pennant, give a little credit to Metro.

Without Shortstop Vernon Stephens there's no telling where the Browns would have finished. Stephens is 4F because of Metro.

Metro and Stephens were roommates when they played for Mayfield in the Kitty League in 1939. They got $75 a month and loved it. One day after a game in Hopkinsville, Ky., Metro and Stephens were in a playful mood. They agreed to an impromptu wrestling match.

Metro got a leg hold and when he let go Stephens' leg swelled up like a balloon. Stephens was rushed to the hospital. He was forced to wear a special brace. Metro had torn just about every cartilage in the knee.

That's why Vernon Stephens is 4F. But today everything with Metro is on the serious side as he continues to make rapid strides to win over the left field post with the Philadelphia Athletics.

"This is the chance I've been waiting for," says Metro. "I'm going to make good because I feel like Al Simmons always felt: 'That I'm one of the best outfielders in baseball.' I've talked that angle into my head so that nothing can change my mind."

That's exactly the way Charlie spoke a few hours before the opening exhibition game against the games and General Manager Jack Zeller sought to ship him off to Indianapolis. Metro balked.

"What do you want then, your unconditional release?" asked Zeller.

Metro replied in the affirmative and the office girl handed Charlie the pink slip.

"Then I contacted several clubs and the Athletics signed me as a free agent. I got $8,000 for signing, and the Athletics have been treating me swell ever since," says Metro.

The 186-pounder, who lacks one-half inch of six feet, well remembers his first game with the A's. "The Athletics were playing Detroit in Philadelphia and Doc Cramer was at bat," says Metro. "I played with Doc for almost two years with the Tigers and knew just where he'd be most likely to hit the ball."

"I moved over toward the left field foul line, Connie Mack, sitting on the bench, waved his scorecard at me. I followed instructions and moved a few steps toward center. Mr. Mack kept waving his scorecard. I thought he was all wrong yet I moved to the exact spot."

"Well, Cramer hit a line drive right into my hands."

"You know, I think Mr. Mack is the best outfielder in both leagues."

GRAHAM LED PRE-FLIGHT

Chapel Hill, N. C.—The North Carolina Pre-Flight Cloudbusters won 16 out of 22 games during the basketball season. All American footballer Otto Graham, North-westerner, paced the scorers with 243 points though he missed five games.

Need for Garden Greens Doubled by Rationed Diet

For Quality Swiss Chard, Keep Leaves Under 10 Inches Tall.

No Victory garden should be without at least one row of "greens" this year. With strictly rationed meats and dairy products, the "green, leafy vegetables," as nutritionists call them, are the chief available source of the vitamins and minerals which everyone, especially children, needs.

Swiss chard and New Zealand spinach are most popular for home gardens, because they bear all season long, and give a huge yield from small space. They are so easy to grow, they are often neglected, and served less often than they should be, because they become unattractive.

There is no excuse for allowing Swiss chard leaves to grow big and coarse. They are at their best when ten inches tall or less, and if they grow higher, should be ruthlessly cut, so that other and younger leaves can grow in their place. An entire plant can be cut off two inches above the ground and will soon recover, and produce young leaves again.

New Zealand spinach may be difficult to germinate when sown in warm soil, as is usually advised. But sow it early, as soon as the soil can be prepared, and the cold weather will help break down the hard seed, with much better results. Seeds are often dropped and spend the winter in the garden, germinating in the spring. Plants grow large enough to fill a bushel basket, so give them plenty of room. The tips of the stems are cut off to use.

Turnip greens are popular in the south, usually grown from a variety, such as Seven-top, which produces only greens, with no edible root.

The mustard family provides several varieties of greens. All the mustards are quick growing, and are much esteemed in the southern states.

Garden scallion is a handy perennial, which will live over winter and produce greens. It does best in light shade.

Kale is a fall and winter plant. Sown in June, the plants set out in rows two feet apart, they will produce leaves which stand freezing, and are improved in flavor by that experience. Collards are a member of the cabbage family which do not make heads, but leaves with embargo flavor.

It is well for the home gardener to plant a small quantity of several kinds so that the family does not grow tired of greens. All produce a surprising quantity of food on small space.

Our Merchant Marine

World's Largest Convoy.

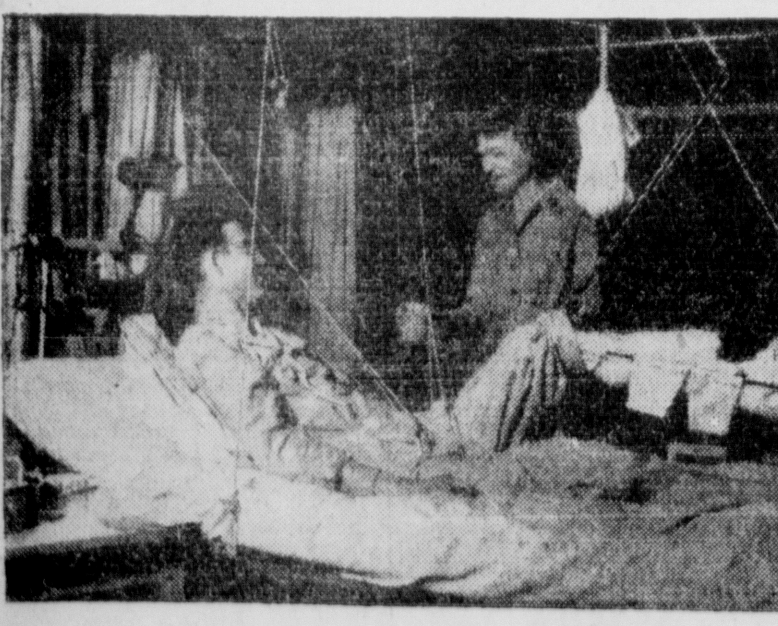

The world's largest convoy, 167 merchant ships, has successfully crossed the Atlantic with over one million tons of cargo.

On board were over 10,000 vehicles (which if placed end to end would extend the 26 miles from England to France), grain, lumber, food, locomotives, tanks, steel, oil, etc.

An escort ship, checking identification pennants, required 4 hours at full speed to travel up and down the convoy lanes.

75 or 43% of the ships were American, another indication of the service being given by the U. S. Merchant Marine to the armed forces and the war effort.

Air Assaults Renewed On Nazi Shipping
hind the Western Front plastered Germany during March with nearly two and one-half times the bomb weight the Nazis have hurled on England by plane and V-bomb since the war started.

The U. S. Eighth and Ninth Air forces rained 106,500 tons on the Reich during March and the RAF, operating from Britain and Western Europe, poured down 22,850 tons. Tens of thousands of additional tons were dropped on Germany by Italy-based planes, which also had a record month.

Berlin was attacked for 29 consecutive nights by Mosquitos, which dropped more than 2,000 tons of bombs, an official RAF summary said.

loosed a torrent of words. "I don't understand," the general kept saying, according to Belling.

Then apparently the general thought his captor meant for him to surrender his arms and he took his hands down to lift the holster from his shoulder. That was when the German fired.

Belling and other officers and men in the armed car made a dash for freedom, making their way to their headquarters hours later. The general's body was found where he was shot.

Police Pension Plan Given Impetus By City Councilmen

Police of the city who have been working on a pension plan for months past last evening had two readings in Council an ordinance that will set up such a fund. The ordinance provides that the police will reap certain benefits through payment of three per cent of their salaries into the fund which will be augmented by payments from the state of certain monies derived from out of state casualty companies doing business in this state. The measure will be studied by the Councilmen and given a third reading at the next meeting.

The finance committee last evening reported $72,490.18 in the general fund; $7832.20 in the Permanent Street Improvement fund; and overdraft of $235.92 in the sanitary sewer fund; $15,737.94 in the sinking fund and $851.11 in the Park fund. Bills to the amount of $15,426.04 were ordered paid when properly approved. The finance committee was also empowered to sell government securities necessary to pay off bonds that come due this year.

Discussion was given the matter of repairs on the sanitary sewer of Liberty street where it crosses to the island. It was stated that this will be a big job and one for which the borough does not possess the necessary equipment. Some methods will be worked out on either a cost plus or on a bid system.

The police reported 33 arrests last month with fines of $26 collected. Burgess Steber's report showed $45 collected in licenses and fees.

The parking meters showed the sum of $724.12 from February 28 to March 28 and for a similar period last year $836.43.

Fees for building permits amounted to $12 with the largest permit having been issued to the Automobile Repair Company for an addition to their plant on Pennsylvania avenue.

The Children's Aid Society was granted the use of rooms in the City Building on Friday mornings from 10 to 12 o'clock.

The scales last month produced revenue of $31.40 and the airport $28.25.

The Park committee reported on the work done during the storm and also that a new fire road was being built in Washington Park.

YOUNGSVILLE

ville they were accompanied by Mrs. Clara McKinney who went from Meadville to Sharon where she spent ten days as the guest of her daughter and husband Mr. and Mrs. David Steward.

Dr. and Mrs. Guy Mills, former Youngsville residents, were in town Easter, attending church service here and then going on to visit their daughter near Warren.

Miss Helen Spencer Spangler of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spencer, has recently been accepted in the Marines and expects to leave for U. S. service about the first of May.

Jean Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. White, has returned to her training in Georgia after spending a short furlough with her parents here.

Freeman Brown of the U. S. Navy was an Easter visitor with his family here.

The Orange Circle will meet Wednesday with Mrs. Kellerman with Mrs. Springer, program leader.

The evening group of the W. S. C. S. meets Thursday evening April 5th with Mrs. H. H. Hull hostess and Mrs. C. C. Johnson, assisting hostess. Mrs. Leota Day is leader. The afternoon group of the W. S. C. S. will meet in the church on April 6th with Mrs. Nora Russell, leader.

SPECIAL EASTER SERVICES

Special features of the morning Easter services at 11 a. m. at the Methodist church were the receiving of a class into membership in the church. A strong message by the pastor with his theme "Death does not have the Last Word." An Easter anthem by the choir and two vocal solos by Donald Aberg, Holy City and Calvary. 11 a. m. in the United Brethren church the pastor spoke on the subject "The Keys of Death." The evening service was Easter songs and anthems with the message topic, "The Burning Heart."

WORLD WAR II HEROES by FRANK RIGNEY

ALONE, FIGHTING ZEROS IN RAIN CLOUDS OVER THE CORAL SEA, HE SCOUTED UNTIL HE LOCATED THE ENEMY NAVAL FORCE. HE BROUGHT WORD TO HIS CARRIER, THE LONGTOWN.

COMMANDER DIXON IN THE OPENING OF THE BATTLE OF THE CORAL SEA, LED A BOMBING DIVE ON THE JAP CARRIER RYUKUKA. DIVING ALONE, A STREAM OF FAST ZEROS ATTACKED. SPEED TOOK THE JAPS AHEAD, BUT THEY CLIMBED AND REATTACKED, MAKING THE STREAM A WHIRL. DESPITE THE ZEROS, DIXON PLANTED THE FIRST BOMB SQUARELY ON THE CARRIER WRECKING ITS DECK. FOLLOWING HIM HIS GROUP COMPLETELY DESTROYED THE BIG SHIP LEAVING IT IN FLAMES.

HE WAS A SCOUT AT RICHLAND, GA.

Two Soldiers From County In Dispatches

Sixth Army Group dispatches from France contain the news that Pfc. Howard P. Christy, of Tidoute, is a member of the 173rd Field Artillery, and Cpl. Frederick L. Lindell, of Russell, is serving with the 85th Engineer Battalion of the same army.

One dispatch, that referring to Pfc. Christy, states that the steel and concrete Sinsmerhoff Fortress, main Maginot bastion, Bitcher, France, was the toughest German emplacement met by U. S. Seventh Army troops in Gen. Deviers' group when their drive through northern Alsace first took them onto German soil. But even Sinsmerhoff, housing German automatic guns, was not too tough for the big guns of the 173rd. Accomplishing what the heavy bombers had not achieved, the group's 155-mm. howitzers penetrated the heavy fortress walls after continued poundings at a relatively close range. Infantry troops moved ahead and occupied the fort without resistance.

Another report, including Cpl. Lindell in personnel of the 85th Engineers, describes how this unit provides the infantry and armored units with means of crossing anything up to a 1200-foot river if operational plans call for such action. Pilots, driving outboard-motor boats, carry the assault troops across. Engineers, rigging wooden tanks and light artillery on pontoon rafts, will haul support elements across. Finally, bridge builders will erect heavy pontoon bridges to bring the heavy artillery and armor into battle. The 85th first saw combat in Italy with the U. S. Fifth Army, where it constructed the first heavy pontoon bridge put up in Europe—a 290-foot structure spanning the Volturno river and handling 2400 to 2800 vehicles daily.

IS ASSIGNED

Sgt. Henry D. Preston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ludwick, Akeley RD 2, has been assigned to the AAF Training Command radio school at Sioux Falls, S. D., for training as a radio operator-mechanic. Graduate of Lander High School in the class of 1938, having been active in basketball affairs of the school, he was inducted October 24, 1941, at New Cumberland and has trained at Kelley and Alton Fields.

ENJOYS RECESS

Another Warren county soldier reported back with his unit after a rest recess spent at an Air Service Command Engineer seaside resort hotel is S/Sgt. Ray A. Trzeinski, 102 Pickering street, Sheffield, who has 27 missions to his credit. Before entering the service, he was employed as a pump-fitter for the United Refining Company.

IS IN ENGLAND

Headquarters of the U. S. Strategic Air Forces in Europe reports that Sgt. Erik M. Nielsen, Warren RD 2, recently arrived in England and received a brief orientation course before transfer to a combat zone. Prior to entering the Army Air Forces, he was employed by Phil Saglunene at the Keystone Sheet Metal Shop.

PROMOTION AND COMBAT BADGE

Mrs. Glenn Johnson, of Russell, has received word from her husband, in Italy with the Fifth Army, that he has been advanced to private first class and has received his Combat Infantry Badge.

Sgt. Thomas Masterson, stationed with a signal company in Newfoundland for the past 3 years arrived home Sunday to spend a furlough with his parents and relatives here.

Keith McIntosh, shipfitter first class, with the SeaBees at Camp Endicott, R. I., returned Monday for his new assignment after a visit at home with his wife and parents at Starbuck.

Cpl. Charles L. Webster has arrived home to spend a short furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Webster, Water street. He was recently graduated from Boca Raton Air Field in Florida as a technician in radar navigation.

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

Those who visit the railroad station once in a while have noted the new type of milk tank car in use by the Otto Milk Company. The arrangement is like two small tanks set on a flat car. This saves shipping milk in cans from the stations along the line where the milk is gathered for shipment to Philadelphia. . . . Bakeries are having trouble in turning out sufficient cakes, sweet rolls, etc., due to the sugar situation. Drivers for the bakeries are feeling the pinch, as the velvet comes from the sale of cakes. . . . Walter Kiser, secretary, and Governor Sheridan Moore left today for Oil City to attend the banquet and other ceremonies incidental to the addition of 250 new members to the Oil City Lodge of Moose. . . . It's gonna be a great occasion. . . . J. A. Johnson, the tailor man, is one bird who has implicit faith in the future of Warren. . . . Buff Munn and Duke Lindmark hooked onto a flock of fine suckers yesterday afternoon. The boys used light bamboo rods and light tackle and fished in the deep hole at Starbuck and had great fun landing some of the big fellows. Taken from the cold water, the suckers are prime eating right now.

Big army trucks bared to the chassis have been rolling through town in considerable numbers the past couple of days, westbound. Just where or why nobody knows. That movement to have the merchants sweep their sidewalks after the stores close for the day is a good one. The street sweeper will get a lot of the rubbish during the night and the streets will be spic and span in the early morning. . . . Wylie Corbett tells us that the salvage business amounts to about $100 per day in this county. Most of the money goes into charity and similar good works. . . . Ike Reed reports that it snowed last Saturday out on the hills of the county. Not any great amount, but a batch of those big white flakes that seem to float down like feathers. . . . Tell us that Paddy Jackson gave Ray Malone a lesson in pool shooting at the Elks Club while Ray was in town for the Easter holiday. . . . Nick Mangus checking up on a few of the boys who were tardy with their financial examination papers which Uncle Sam should have had on March 15 and didn't. . . . Bicycles coming out in ever increasing numbers.

The recent snow and ice storm cost Pap Warren a pretty penny and so far 918 trees have had to be trimmed and put into shape by the Park Commission. The job was so big that a tree doctoring firm had to be called upon for help at a cost of $800. . . . And the work is not all finished yet. . . . Police pension fund has finally been put on the way of formation in Warren. . . . Taking the humps out of the highways left by Old Man Winter is keeping the boys of the department on the jump. . . . The Allegheny river leaped up two feet since yesterday morning due to the heavy downpour of last evening. The stage this morning was 8.8 and rising. . . . One of the RD carriers at Kinzua is a booster for the paper salvage drive. He has brought in over a ton in the last ten days. . . . While the baseball diamonds are just a little wet right now, over 30 of the high school flingers are itching to get their spring games under way. . . . And it might be, with the Germans out of the way, that a lighting system might bloom at Russell Field. That would be the berries. . . . This is going to be a record year in the paying off of obligations of Warren borough, as during this current year $53,000 of the $129,000 outstanding borough bonds will be paid off. What with the county preparing to pay off its last debts in 1938, finances of the city and county look mighty good. . . . And if Gov. Martin's plan to ease real estate of heavy school taxes in teacher salary subsidy, old John Q. Public will only have his hidden taxes and his income taxes to worry about. Maybe!
